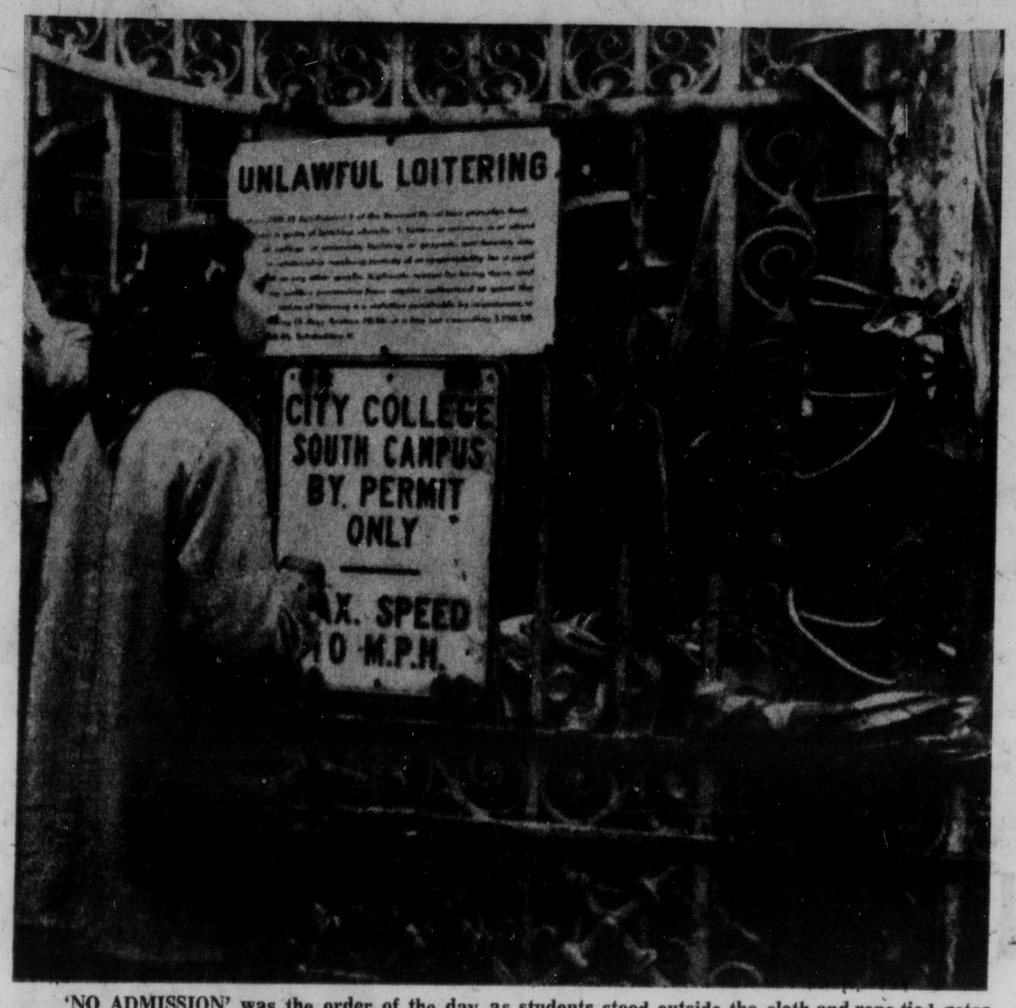
Blacks Keep New York College Shut



'NO ADMISSION' was the order of the day as students stood outside the cloth-and-rope-tied gates leading to the south campus of the City University of New York Tuesday. Black and Puerto Rican youth seeking to "open admission" policies closed the gates and refused to admit students and professors who arrived for classes. (UPI Telephoto)

By The Associated Press

Militant blacks at Cornell University waited to see if the faculty would reconsider and drop charges stemming from an earlier demonstration, while protests continued at other campuses.

About 150 black and Puerto Rican students sealed four gates on City College's South Campus Tuesday. Several hours later, President Buell G. Gallagher canceled classes for the school's 20,000 students.

Police clipped chains the students had put on the gates, but the protesters stood shoulder-to-shoulder in a pouring rain and kept all whites outside. Three blocks away, about 200 white radicals began a sit-in in the administration building to support the blacks' demands for open enrollment for all high school graduates and a separate-but-not-autonomous school of black studies.

A City College spokesman said about 1,500 of the school's 12,000 day session enrollment is black or Puerto Rican. Another 3,000 attend night classes. The protesters contend the student body should reflect the city's high schools, which are about 52 per cent black and Puerto Rican.

At Cornell, in Ithaca, N.Y., a 16-member faculty council Tuesday night asked the entire faculty of 1,500 to meet today and accept the militants' demand to drop discipline against five blacks, which the faculty refused to do Monday night.

The faculty has final power in disciplinary matters.

About 245 sheriff's deputies from nearby counties remained near the campus, all armed with riot control equipment, at the request of Tompkins County Sheriff Robert L. Howard.

Leaders of Students for a Democratic Society drew 6,000 students to a rally and asked them to stage a sit-in to back the blacks' demands. Cornell has 14,000 students, 250 of them blacks.

Cornell President James A. Perkins banned guns from campus Tuesday, but made no move to pick up weapons, including the shotguns and rifles the blacks displayed after seizing the student union over the weekend.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., introduced a bill to provide imprisonment and fines for demonstrators who interfere with the operations of any school receiving federal funds.

Nine students announced in Washington that they would refuse to accept induction into the armed forces. They said more than 250 student body presidents and newspaper editors had

Nixon Seeks Funds For War On Crime

Cosa Nostra Seen More Entrenched

Asks Corruption Of Police Be Made Federal Offense

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, proposing a $61 million war against organized crime, asked Congress today to make corruption of police and local officials and operation of large-scale illegal gambling rings federal offenses.

In a special message which said the leaders of the Cosa Nostra "are more firmly entrenched and more secure than ever before," Nixon said his administration is studying the potential use of antitrust laws to cripple syndicate-owned operation of legitimate businesses financed by illicit revenues.

Nixon also said he wants the crime-fighting budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 to be increased by $25 million to a record $61 million.

That would finance hiring more sleuths and help staff "strike forces" being set up in 20 cities to coordinate activities of all federal agencies engaged in the investigation of organized crime and racketeering.

At least a dozen more cities will be added to the list within two years, he said.

Nixon also proposed the annual federal tax on gamblers be increased from $50 to $1,000.

And in another request for legislation, he proposed "a new broad general witness immunity law." He said that, under this, a witness granted immunity could not be prosecuted on the basis of his testimony but would not be immune from prosecution based on other evidence.

Should the witness refuse to testify, he would be liable to a prison sentence for contempt.

Perhaps the most striking idea Nixon outlined was possible application of the antitrust laws, or new statutes incorporating their theories, to crack down on syndicate-controlled business enterprises.

Arab, Israel Fire Erupts Near Jordan

Terrorist Incidents Reported As Israel Marks Anniversary

JERUSALEM (AP) — Arabs and Israelis exchanged fire again today along the Jordanian border near the Israeli frontier city of Beit Shean, and there were reports of at least two terrorist incidents as Israel continued to celebrate the 21st anniversary of its independence.

An Israeli army spokesman said Arab rocket fire burst near Beit Shean, four miles from the Jordanian border, and that the fire was returned. He gave no other details.

Three Arabs were wounded in occupied Gaza City when a small package of explosives blew up in a movie house. Authorities said no movie was showing at the time and the Arabs were held for questioning. A grenade also was hurled at a police jeep in the tense city and troops searched for the attacker.

Independence celebrations continued, but police were everywhere and the cities were ringed by roadblocks. Citizens were warned to be on the alert for terrorist attacks.

Israel's independence was proclaimed May 14, 1948, but the anniversary falls on April 23 this year, according to the Hebrew lunar calendar.

Israeli diplomats said today the cease-fire along the Suez Canal has not broken down despite Secretary-General U Thant's warning that a "virtual state of active war" exists in the area.

The diplomats said Thant had failed to take into consideration reports from U.N. military observers that Egypt had initiated most of the recent fighting along the 103-mile waterway. They claimed that Cairo is attempting to create a war scare in order to pressure the Big Four powers in to a pro-Arab

U.S. Loses 6 Helicopters As Midair Crash Kills 16

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced the loss of six helicopters, including a fiery midair collision that killed 16 American and South Vietnamese soldiers and left no survivors.

The other crashes killed three Americans and injured three U.S. soldiers and 20 South Vietnamese.

The collision occurred about 1 a.m. today 35 miles north of Saigon between two U.S. Army choppers carrying South Vietnamese infantrymen on a night assault. Eight American crewmen and eight South Vietnamese soldiers were killed when the helicopters plunged to the ground in flames.

U.S. headquarters said the cause of the crash is being investigated.

Three Lost In 8 Hours

Three other helicopters were lost to enemy fire within an eight-hour period Tuesday two miles below the eastern flank of the demilitarized zone.

First a big U.S. Marine CH46 helicopter landing South Vietnamese infantrymen on a hilltop crashed, apparently hit an enemy land mine and exploded. Two American crewmen were killed and three crewmen and 14 South Vietnamese infantrymen were wounded.

All the dead and wounded were lifted out by another helicopter except a South Vietnamese company commander and his radio operator, who apparently were overlooked. A smaller helicopter that came to pick them up 4½ hours later also hit a mine while landing. One U.S. crewman was killed and three South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded.

Ground Fire Downs One

A third helicopter from the 101st Airborne Division came in to help, and ground fire from the slopes of the same hill brought it down. There were no American casualties, but three South Vietnamese troops were wounded.

Another helicopter managed to lift out the survivors and the dead, field reports said.

The sixth helicopter lost, a light observation craft, was hit by enemy ground fire and crashed while on a reconnaissance mission 60 miles west of Saigon. It was destroyed but nobody was hurt.

The losses raised to 2,549 the number of American helicopters lost in the Vietnam war.

Elsewhere, the U.S. Command reported allied forces backed by helicopter gunships and bombers killed 55 North Vietnamese soldiers in the past 24 hours in the central highlands, 180 miles north of Saigon. There were no allied casualties, it said.

Military sources reported that the only three North Vietnamese battalions threatening Saigon from the south and west —more than 1,000 men—have pulled back into the marshy Plain of Reeds or across the Cambodian border.

Viet Cong units in the upper Mekong Delta also are breaking up into platoons and squads the sources said.

This tied in with reports that

Ousted Deputies Act

West Virginia High Court Gets New Sheriff Petitions

New actions were filed with the West Virginia Supreme Court at Charleston Tuesday in the Hancock County sheriff's race which has been in litigation for months.

Sixteen who were appointed deputy sheriffs by Democrat Lou Smoleski only to be ousted by the County Court after Republican Ralph Patrick took over in February asked the Supreme Court to declare the office of sheriff vacant on the ground that Patrick failed to post a valid bond within 60 days after he was declared elected, as required by law.

In a second move, Smoleski asked the state court to cite Hancock County Court members and Patrick for contempt.

THE OUSTED deputies' petition said that under West Virginia statutes and the state constitution, deputies may be removed from office only by the sheriff who appointed them unless "good cause" is shown.

In this case, the petition said, " 'good cause' . . . does not and did not exist."

On the question of Patrick's bond, Smoleski's lawyers said that the county court on Feb. 10 accepted a bond in the amount of $80,000, but that a statement on the face of the bond document said "not valid if filled in for more than $50,000."

The petition said the purported bond, "being invalid on its face, is in effect no bond at all."

In the contempt petition, Smoleski's counsel said the county court, "allegedly completing on April 18" the election contest hearing, made no change from its previous rulings on any ballots.

THE PETITION said, however, that the county court failed to comply with the Supreme Court mandate. For one thing, he ((County Court) commisioners" arbitrarily decided in advance of the proceeding that they would not change any recount rulings on ballots.

Smoleski alleged also that the County Court refused to subpoe-

The rain and cool weather will continue at least through Thursday.

Fortunately, the "possibility of snow" mentioned in yesterday's predictions was just that, and only rain marred the day for tri-state residents.

Stamp Hike Bid Labeled As 'Scheme'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee says President Nixon's proposed one cent hike in first class mail rates is a scheme "to get the administration out of a budget bind."

"As I understand it," Sen. Gale W. McGee said in an interview, revenue from the boost from 6 to 7 cents "will not necessarily improve mail service at all. It will go largely to pay for capital improvements which should be financed by the government's general revenues."

However, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he agrees with the administration that the hike, included in a $611-million postal rate increase proposal, is necessary.

Dirksen said if McGee's committee doesn't approve the bill, he might attach it as a rider to some unrelated legislation.

When the bill is filed and when administration plans for revision of postal operations are clearer, McGee said, he'll hold hearings on the request.

McGee also said he was disappointed in Postmaster Gen. Winton M. Blount's testimony Monday before the Senate appropriations subcommittee on the Post Office's budget requests.

"We have heard lots of statements from the new administration about how it was going to institute business practices in the Postoffice Department," he said.

First Total Human Eye Transplant Is Performed

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A total human eye transplant, the first on record, has been performed at Methodist hospital.

John Madden, 54, received the eye from the body of O. B. Hickman, 55, of Houston, who had died 24 hours earlier of a brain tumor.

Dr. Conard D. Moore, who performed the transplant, said Tuesday Madden, owner of a photography studio at Conroe, Tex., was in excellent condition. Moore added it was too early to tell whether the patient would be able to see with the eye.

"The operation is simple but the problem is keeping the optic nerve cells alive," said Moore.

"Even with a perfected procedure it could be used only with the loss of a whole eye, such as in an accident," he said. "The type case we had here might happen once in a thousand times."

Madden lost his right eye two weeks ago when a corneal transplant was unsuccessful because of bleeding. He was still hospitalized when the donor eye became available.

Despite loss of the eye, Moore said, it was found that the nerve essential to vision had not been destroyed. This led to the transplant in which the nerves of the donor eye were connected surgically with the Madden's optic nerves.

"We now just have to wait and see what happens," Moore said. "We are hopeful the nerves will unite. But even if the vision doesn't work he will have a normal looking eye."

Moore said the Madden's eyelids would remain sewn together for about three weeks before it could be determined whether he had vision in the eye.

Paul's Kidney Works After New Surgery

Physicians had good news Tuesday night for the family of Paul McCraw, 9-year-old East End boy who received a kidney transplant from a Beaver County girl April 3.

Following a 2-hour operation yesterday in which a leak was found in the tube leading to the new kidney, surgeons said the kidney is functioning as planned.

The 28-pound youngster had been in severe pain in the past 10 days, and doctors decided to tap his stomach where the new kidney was inserted after his two diseased kidneys were removed.

Urine was found in the stomach area, indicating the kidney was functioning but with an apparent leak in the tube con-

Vocational Courses Set

The vocational machine trades and electrical trades courses for East Liverpool High School have been approved by the Ohio Department of Education Trades and Industrial Department, Supt. Paul Blair announced Tuesday.

Blair said confirmation of the approval was received from Harry F. Davis, state supervisor of the trades and industrial department. The classes will be incorporated into the curriculum in September.

The board of education earmarked some $110,000 in its budget for equipment and will now apply to the State Department of Education for matching funds.

Blair said the business office education program also has been approved.

With the addition of the above, the vocational education courses for the 1967-70 school year will include auto mechanics, first and second year; industrial drafting, first and second year; vocational home economics; occupational work experience; distributive education; machine trades; electrical trades, and business office education.

In 1970-71, a second year of machine and electrical trades will be added.

Senate GOP Bill Slashes Shafer Fund

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer, still busy telling the people of Pennsylvania the good side of his record $2.52 billion budget proposal at "town meetings," can add the Senate Republican caucus to his list of detractors.

A clear majority of the GOP caucus — 16 of the 27 members — introduced the principal bill of a counter - budget Tuesday which cuts to shreds most of the governor's pet programs and would throw out a proposed 10 per cent pay increase for state employes. It also would avert the need for a state personal income tax.

Gone under the bill submitted by Sen. D. Elmer Hawbaker of Franklin County and Senate Appropriations Chairman George N. Wade of Cumberland County would be some $40 million asked by Shafer for industrial development. Also missing would be all but $1.8 million of $69 million requested for the Community Affairs Department for ghetto development, housing and community services.

Another $60 million of the Shafer proposal would be slashed by turning the state scholarship program into a loan program.

Several of the co-sponsors of Tuesday's counter - budget bill also signed a proposal to abolish the scholarship grant system and fund the loan program with state employe and teachers' retirement systems.

The Golden Door

Another argument for technical-vocational education as urged by Gov. James A. Rhodes can be found in a recent report of the Labor Department.

Despite all the talking and the research being devoted to finding jobs for our large number of unemployed, it still is necessary to look to the foreign labor markets to fill gaps in the nation's work force.

The reason — they can't be filled by Americans. We do not have enough workers with the required skills.

The Labor Department reports that last year 141,820 foreign workers, 22 per cent more than in the previous year were admitted to the United States to take jobs that could not have been filled otherwise.

For the immigrants, the golden door to opportunity in the United States is not closed because they have the desired training and skills. But for many native Americans, these doors are closed because they lack that necessary training and the skills which are in demand.

Until the quantity and quality of education in Ohio and the nation are such that the opportunity to be trained for productive jobs is available to all, joblessness will be chronic — an individual tragedy and a national problem.

Festival Assistance

The first year successes of the Tri-State Pottery Festival by volunteers on a practically zero budget proved a surprise to the workers, the community and festival "experts" who evaluated the event.

This year's capable staff is out to top the 1968 venture with the benefit of some experience, a bit of a balance in the black and some ambitious plans for a better show.

Among last year's favorable comments were, "If there's anything I can do to help. . ." Assistance is still needed, and anyone wishing to devote time and talent to aiding in the festival can notify the chairman, Jack Hales, or telephone 385-4854.

Continuing support of residents of East Liverpool, Chester, Newell, Wellsville and Midland areas is vital to this popular fete, and no one can overlook the fun involved for visitors and participants alike.

Plight Of The Elderly

The Senate Committee on the Aging will open a two-day hearing next week to call new attention to the plight of the nation's elderly in a time of heavy inflation.

The committee concluded in a recent report that the best — and perhaps only — way to reduce poverty among old people is to transfer more wealth from wage earners to the retired population through Social Security.

Pressure for large Social Security hikes is bound to bring cries from American taxpayers.

Under existing legislation, Social Security taxes will go up gradually from the present 9.6 per cent (shared by employe and employer) on the first $7,800 of yearly earnings, to 11.8 per cent in 1987.

The committee already has disclosed that elderly people account for 20 per cent of the nation's poverty but only 10 per cent of its population.

New ammunition for the committee is found in a study by the Columbia University Bureau of Applied Research. For those in retiremnt, it found, the standard of living declines as rapidly as life expectancy increases.

The survey drew the conclusion that people planning to retire can expect "to go broke."

Beauty And The Billboards

The federal government, in its desire to have more sightly highways, pays a bonus to states that ban billboards along the interstate freeways.

To close the resulting information gap which occurs when the billboards are removed, one of these states, Iowa, opened two "Infosites" along Interstate 80 near Iowa City.

The Infosites are large buildings adjacent to rest areas and are well-lighted, heated and air conditioned. They also feature numerous panels for advertising.

It was thought that advertisers would welcome the opportunity to advertise in such attractive quarters and the travelers would flock to the Infosites for information.

But not so. Only 20 per cent of the available space in the Infosites was sold. And the advertisers — they simply moved back beyond the legal limit from the highway and put up much larger billboards.

To add insult to injury then, between 80 and 90 per cent of some 4,000 travelers queried said they got all the information they needed from the new billboards.

It would seem the well-rodered, unclattered society is not everyone's cup of tea.

Safer Highways

A recent report compiled by the Federal Highway Administration's bureau of public roads reveals that travel on the nation's interstate highways is safer than travel on other roads and streets.

Despite rumors and statements to the contrary, the report indicates the superroads have the best safety records.

Statistics reveal that during 1967 2.89 persons were killed for each 100 million vehicle miles of travel on the interstate highways as compared with 5.66 on other roads.

Although it hardly seems possible, due to the great daily traffic toll in the nation, the report's figures show the death rate on all highways during 1967 was below the rate for 1966 and that the interstate fatality rate dropped off even more.

Ever better superhighways make driving both easier and safer as a comparison of the older Pennsylvania Turnpike with the more modern Ohio Turnpike makes very clear.

Highway designers, in improving the state of their art, are helping to make it safer for all of us when we venture forth onto the nation's highways.

Letters To The Editor

Within the next week, work will begin on removing the concrete loading docks at the Chester Primary School. This will be a joint venture of the Board of Education, Mayor, City Council and the City Park Board.

Tennis courts, volleyball, basketball and a play area will be erected on the various school properties. Plans are being made for a work day to clean the debris from the Central School lot. The City will then cover it with clean fill dirt and a play area will be made. The Board of Education have also granted us permission to use the Junior High Gym this winter for a recreation program for all ages. We will need help and supervision to do this. Ice Skating, basketball, etc. are planned for Chester City Park.

We need volunteers to help even if the first work done might not take place in the area where thy live? We are asking all citizens old and young to be in on the planning for what is needed in Chester. We want to benefit all ages, clubs, Little Leagues, etc. and if someone's pet project or interest wouldn't get first priority or be done the way they want it, please don't pick up the marbles (in this case money and talent) and go home. For once, let's cooperate as a people who are interested in the welfare of the whole town.

Now to you parents, youngsters and young people who will be using these new facilities, may I say this. Much money, time and effort will go into this. Won't you parents stress to your children the need to respect and take care of this equipment and property? To you young people, we need your help in all ways to get the equipment erected, painted, etc. The park, playgrounds and schools are your property and you as taxpayers are the losers when there is vandalism.

I hope everyone appreciates the work that is going into this. First thanks go to the W. Va. University Extension Committee who got the ball rolling by putting us in contact with Mr. Anthony Torchio, an expert on recreation in Weirton. Mr. Torchio has been our sparkplug and cheerleader so to speak, and he set up the meeting with Mr. George Grodhaus, W. Va. Dept. of Commerce, who has promised to help us all along the way.

Thanks also goes to Dr. Vernon Wyland, Supt. of Hancock County Schools, Mr. Paul Cone, Coordinator of Physical Plant and Grounds, and Mr. John Kuzio, Coordinator of the Physical Education Program. These men have helped with the school properties.

We need to thank Mayor Ash and Council who have worked to get help and materials and to the Park Board for pulling all groups together. We are asking all civic clubs, social clubs, PTA's etc. to put their resources and help together for this program.

As Mr. Grodhaus said "An Ogelbay it won't be, but it will suit the needs of Chester." And to quote Mr. Torchio, "Isn't it better to spend money on wholesome recreation than to pay for vandalism and extra police."

Come on Chester, let's exchange our apathy for some enthusiasm!

MRS. RICHARD BARNHART

Thanks Expressed

The Area Red Cross Chapter on behalf of the Albert Dailey family of parents and six children wishes to express its gratitude for the overwhelming response from the many citizens of this area — even as far as Lisbon — who helped to re-establish this family which lost its entire possessions and belongings in a house fire recently. Much more was offered than could be used. They are grateful.

Special thanks also to a local couple and employees of the D. M. Ogilvie Company for a generous cash contribution, the Salvation Army, a furniture store, and the many individuals.

Giving a helping hand in times of need is its own reward, but as chapter disaster chairman, I am most appreciative and proud of the compassion of my fellow - beings.

Teamsters Forgot To 'Duck'

WASHINGTON — And so it came about that some migratory waterfowl are not sitting ducks for some dollar-minded Teamsters whose concept of wildlife differs considerably from that of the united nature lovers of the land.

Victor Riesel

Despite considerable logistic support from the Army Corps of Engineers, influential senators, and high Department of Interior officials of the past administration, the Teamsters Brotherhood lost an almost decade-long battle to flocks of wild ducks.

This frustrated a land development scheme which would have paralayed a $15,300 investment in Potomac marshland into a $1.3 million kill. Not bad, even for the Teamsters, who never sleep when they sniff a profitable real estate deal—be it in the Nevada desert or underwater Virginia soil.

This saga of lobbying in the Pentagon, pressuring and even threatening congressmen, and attempting to bully dedicated professionals of the Department of Interior, began in the early '60s when an official of the notorious Chicago-based Central States Teamsters Pension Fund purchased some nine acres of marshland on the Virginia side of the river edge.

THE PROMOTION SCHEME was simple—get a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers, which as the authority to grant permission for landfills. That permit alone would rocket the land value of the swamp to $1.3 million. Then the plan called for hooking in with construction people to build a posh high-rise apartment.

But the teamsters did not count on the ducks.

Neither did the Army Corps of Engineers, which was quite willing to grant the permit to those friendly Teamsters. Under the law, the Corps must first get clearance from agencies of the Department of Interior—which meant convincing the devoted conservationists who head the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife and the National Park Service that pouring rubble into the marshland would be a social boon to the district and its environs.

The nine acres which the Teamsters wanted to fill in are part of a sanctuary for the ducks who find the marshaland one of the few watering spots of its kind on the Eastern "flyway." The migratory fowl come down and winter here. The Teamsters project would have left them homeless and would have deprived metropolitan nature lovers of some relaxed hours of watching the birds. So the heads of the two Interior Dept. agencies, in 1967, advised the Army Corps against issuing the juicy permit. The permit was turned down, but this didn't discourage the Teamsters.

IT PLEASED a congressional friend of mine, John Saylor, Republican of Pennsylvania's 22nd District. He's on the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, the National Forest Reservation Commission and the Public Land Law Review Commission.

So he has fought through the past few years to save the ducks and their wintering place. But the Teamsters are not lacking in techniques. They think they how how to handle congrsssmen. One particular technique was developed by the late Sidney Zagri, Jimmy Hoffa's political trowel carrier. Mr. Zagri, knowing he could not "convince" Mr. Saylor in any other way, marched into his office a few years back and told him to "keep your nose out of this affair."

The or-else implication is obvious. The late Mr. Zagri often boasted he could make or break or buy congressmen. John Saylor told him to get out. The congressman said he'd keep his nose in any business involving the U.S. and his committee. This came after Sidney Zagri had observed that the congressman was from a steel and coal city. Mr. Zagri got out.

But the Teamsters pressure for the permit continued. Senators were called. In turn, subcabinet-level heads of the Interior Dept. were pressured. In mid-'68, Undersecretary David Black and his highly placed departmental colleague Stanley Cain overruled their own fisheries and forest service agency professionals. The Interior Dept. gave its clearance. The permit, weighted with real estate gold, was approved by the Army Corps of Engineers—but no land was filled.

REP. SAYLOR got mad. He rounded up some congressmen on the Government Operations Committee and they held a hearing. It was all very indecisive because it was all too hurried in that hectic year.

Some weeks ago, Mr. Saylor returned to battle. He got the Government Operations Committee together again. One of the Interior Dept. executives. Stanley Cain, who along with Mr. Black had overruled his own professionals, admitted that his decision was based on "political considerations." Then the House committee made a decision-unanimously. They condemned the permit, the project, the Army Corps of Engineers, the Department of Interior officials and the whole affair.

"Two weeks ago, I called the new Secretary of Interior, Walter Hickel," says John Saylor. "and I told him that I filed this report. Hickel took it up with his professional people—some of the same men who had denounced the granting of the permit—and he withdrew the permit which was forwarded last year."

Legally, the Army Corps of Engineers still has the right to issue the elusive permit

Mr. Saylor tells me "the Teamsters landfill project is dead." But what if the Teamsters give it an artificial transplant?

"Sure, the Army Corps still has the right," snorts Saylor, "but heaven help them if they do."

And Mr. Saylor means it. That will teach the Teamsters to pick on ducks—or some congressmen.

Perilous Handcuffs

WASHINGTON — Within the last few days, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has issued a report, approved by a vote of 11 to 1, recommending the Senate adopt a resolution which, if put into effect, could paralyze the operation of foreign policy by the president of the United States.

America's ambassadors and ministers would hardly be able to carry on useful conversations or negotiations with foreign governments without first submitting virtually everything of significance for approval by a committee of Congress.

The alleged purpose would be to determine weather a "commitment" was being made by the United States—involving financial, military or other forms of co-operation between this and other countries.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in its report of April 16, includes a summary of the objections to the resolution as submitted by the Johnson and Nixon administrations. The latest memorandum of opposition was submitted to the committee by the State Department on March 10 It declares that a congressional resolution "could not change the constitutional powers of the president," and that the Constitution gives the president "the power to enter into many agreements and to initiate many actions that can be considered to be commitments to other countries."

The foreign relations committees of both houses are constantly consulted when critical situations arise. But, as Under Secretary of State Katzenbach in 1967 said in a congressional hearing, this does not mean that the Congress "should seek to substitute itself for the president or even to share in those decisions which are his to make." Incidentally, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee says in its report that the resolution is not intended to cover commitments already made and is concerned solely with the future.

IT MAY WELL be wondered whether, if the president of the United States feels it is necessary to push a button to order the firing of missiles to deter a nuclear attack, he must first ask a Senate committee for approval. The rebuttal made by members of the committee is that the president has the power of defense "against sudden armed agression." But there are many possible steps necessary from time to time to thwart potential aggression, and these can require mutual-defense pledges to be made informally.

It is strange that only one member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee—Sen. Gale McGee, Democrat of Wyoming — differed with the proponents of the committee's resolution. He says in part in the minority report:

"As a great power, American actions cause reverberations all around the globe and must, therefore, be carefully weighed and delicately executed. Not infrequently they must be carried out swiftly. The decision-making process may be reduced by events to a matter of a single day, or even hours. On more than one occasion the time allotted by crisis incidents to those who must make the decisions has been less than the time it would take to assemble a quorum of the Congress.

"Possibly an even greater factor which presses for increasing the power of the president in making foreign policy in recent decades has been the advent of the nuclear age. We live in a time when 15 minutes could spell the difference between life and death for millions of people—possibly even for life itself on earth. . . .

"THE PRESIDENT alone under the Constitution has authority to recognize foreign governments and to enter into commitments which implement that recognition. In the conduct of the foreign relations of the United States, the president necessarily must have the power to make many commitments to foreign governments. . . .

"At best, the Senate resolution has only the capabilities of mischief-making with the responsibilities of the president of the United States in foreign affairs, particularly in times like the present."

Sen. McGee says it is difficult to believe that "the press, or students of constitutional principles for that matter, would permit Senate resolution 85 to go by unnoticed." He adds that friends and foes abroad will hardly accept the interpretations by members of the committee that the proposed resolution isn't going to affect seriously the conduct of American foreign policy.

Hal Dips Into Mail Bag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The chances are one out of 10 that you will be hospitalized sometime during this year.

A chief reason that agricultural experts fear the population explosion will create a worldwide food shortage is this: Only about three per cent of the earth's land surface is suitable for the production of crops.

The accent isn't on youth when it comes to highway safety—it's on age. A 31-state survey by the University of Denver's Law College found that car owners over 65 were involved in only 4.8 per cent of all accidents although those in this age bracket make up 7.4 per cent of the nation's drivers.

The accent is on youth, however, when it comes to auto thefts. In 1969 they are expected for the first time to pass the million mark, and most of them will be stolen by lads too young to vote.

Children often pay the penalty for alcoholism in their parents. An Austrian study found that 72 per cent of the offspring of alcoholic parents suffered detectable mental or physical damage.

What is the world's fastest winged creature? Ornithologists believe it is the duck hawk, which can achieve a speed of up to 180 miles an hour when diving on its prey.

Quotable notables: "It is not so important to be serious as it is to be serious about the important things. The monkey wears an expression of seriousness which would do credit to any college students, but the monkey is serious because he itches." —Robert Hutchins.

Delivering letters is one of the oldest government services. As long ago as 500 B.C., Darius the Great operated a postal system thoughout Persia. In America, the first postage stamps didn't go on sale until July 1, 1847.

Doctors are worrying about drugs that hurt instead of help. A survey by two physicians in Northern Ireland of 1,160 patients found that 10.2 suffered adverse reactions from drug therapy. However, only a few of the reactions were of a life-threatening nature.

It was Kin Hubbard who observed, "Some men are born great, some achieve greatness, and others just keep still."

WOMAN OF STRAW. Italian fashion stylist Domenico Albion believes in dressing women in something different and in this creation he has certainly achieved his goal—a straw dress with the world's largest collar.

Booth Signups Continue For '69 Pottery Festival

Twenty - one booth sponsors have been registered so far for the "mall" of the second annual Tri-State Pottery Festival June 19-21, it was announced at a meeting of the festival committee Tuesday night.

Mark Templin, chairman of the Jaycee-sponsored "mall," said Heck's Amusements will again provide the rides for the event.

Booths can be obtained by area organizations at $20 for a 10-foot front, Templin said. Registration arrangements can be made with Templin at 385-4850.

Theme for the festival this year is "Progress and Tradition," submitted in a special contest by Miss Elizabeth Creese of Wellsville who will be awarded a $25 cash prize. Her entry was selected from more than 20 in the recent competition.

Entries are being received for "Pottery Queen" candidates from area girls 17 to 20 who are related to a pottery employe. Entries may be sent to "Pottery Queen" in care of the East Liverpool Review.

Arrangements are being made for window displays in downtown stores and businesses during the festival. Anyone with items to display may notify Mrs. William Horger of 1100 Ohio Ave.

Advertising for the festival souvenir program is expected to exceed the 1968 program, and anyone interested in purchasing ads may notify Mrs. Helen Moore or Mrs. Jerry Reed at Ogilvie's Department Store.

Further discussion was held on plans for a rose show, art display, entertainment, prizes and promotion.

John Hales, general chairman, presided at the meeting at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. offices. H. J. English, president, was in charge of a meeting of the directors at which the 1969 budget was aired.

Ex-W.Va. Cab Driver Indicted For Kidnap

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — A former cab driver from Huntington, W. Va., was indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday and charged with kidnaping a Chesapeake, Ohio, man.

Franklin M. King, 27, was indicted for allegedly kidnaping Jerald T. Sharp, 37, and forcing him to drive King into Ohio following a Feb. 4 daytime robbery at a Huntington tavern where Sharp was a patron.

Sharp, along with a woman and her son, were found bound and gagged in a rural Gallia County (Ohio) home several hours later. King surrendered to authorities in Oakland, Md., the next day.

King pleaded guilty to armed robbery and malicious shooting charges March 17 in Huntington and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Despite their highly developed civilization, the Incas had no systems of writing and all knowledge and lore was transmitted orally. Numerical records were kept on knotted cords, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Transit Strike Postponed Week In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A threatened transit strike which would have crippled some 185,000 Pittsburgh area commuters has been postponed for at least a week.

Nearly 1,000 members voted Tuesday to authorize union officials to strike next Tuesday at midnight if the Port Transit Authority board does not withdraw an appeal of an arbitration ruling bringing 120 supervisors under union jurisdiction.

The vote to strike eliminated an immediate strike threat. It was taken behind closed doors at a general membership meeting of District 85, the Amalgamated Transit Union.

Gilbert Teitel, business manager of the 2,300 member union, said after the meeting the workers wanted to strike now.

"I had to hold them back," he said.

But Teitel and Wilbert B. Morris, president, said they promised the Allegheny County Commissioners they would urge the members to give the authority another week to reconsider their appeal, scheduled for Wednesday April 30.

Teitel said the union "cannot and will not negotiate the issue."

1,000 Pa. Welfare Workers Ask 15% Pay Hike At Capital

HARRISBURG (AP)—Nearly 1,000 welfare workers demonstrated at the State Capitol Tuesday for a 15 per cent wage hike and other benefits but were upstaged by a high school choir from Pittsburgh.

Most of the demonstrators were bused to the Capitol steps from Pittsburgh and Philadelphia shortly after noon and within an hour upwards of 200 moved into the House chamber.

They filled visitors' seats in the balcony and the rear of the House floor, chanting "We want a raise."

Speaker Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia and K. Lreoy Irvis, D-Allegheny, the majority leader, tried to quiet them in vain.

At this point, members of the Pittsburgh Westinghouse High School choir, who had been invited long before the demonstration was planned, filed into the chamber.

The choir began harmonizing and the crowd quieted and listened to the concert.

Irvis, who said he sympathizes with the workers, cautioned that their behavior could only hurt their cause and said the House would "not be intimidated by you or any others."

Minority Leader Lee A. Donaldson Jr., R-Allegheny, said the GOP side would "sustain the speaker and the majority leader so that we can proceed with the orderly business of this House."

A handful of demonstrators also appeared in the Senate, but there was no disruption. Seats in the Senate gallery had been preempted for the most part by a high school group before the demonstrators sought admittance.

The demonstrators included caseworkers and clerical workers who repeated requests made several times in the past and led to a walkout in Pittsburgh last month.

They listed 17 demands that ranged from the 15 per cent pay hike to better health and retirement programs.

A spokesman for Gov. Shafer noted the governor already is on record for a 10 per cent pay increase for all state employes.

He added: "The governor feels they should be directing their demonstration against the legislature in this area. As for the other demands, there is no way under state law that these people can bargain collectively."

Most of the demonstrators began leaving for home about three hours after they arrived.

Although many carried signs and chanted, there was no report of violence.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Brewing Tea In The Sun

DEAR HELOISE: Just what is sun tea and how do you make it?

MRS. T. T.

Heloise

I have used this for years, luv. I take loose tea and put some in the bottom of a clean fruit jar.

Fill the jar with hot water from the tap and cap the lid tightly.

Set this any place where the sun shines upon it: In a window or outside. I turn the jar over twice a day.

When it gets strong enough (in a day or so) you will know because of the color and how much tea you put in the jar.

This may seem like a slow way of brewing tea, but it sure does taste different. It may be diluted with cold water ANYTIME. I learned this from the Hawaiians when I lived there.

And a great savings which has NOT been denied by any florist is to pour all leftover tea leaves in water, let set overnight, and use on plants!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Blessings on the apple . . . without it we'd have no vinegar, and where would we go from there???

MRS. F. COLE.

DEAR HELOISE: When you are sewing up a storm and need extra room for your sewing box, patterns, and all of that extra junk we accumulate:

Whiz-bang! Open up one or two TV snack tables. After all, most of us sew on the kitchen table. It sure gives lots of extra room and when suppertime comes along, those tables can be moved into a corner of the kitchen and you can continue the next day in case you don't finish.

MRS. ODA.

DEAR HELOISE: When changing the paper in our kitchen drawers, I didn't have any scissors handy, so I just tore the paper off along the edge of the pulled-out drawer. The paper tore off nice and smooth and I was delighted that I had found a new way to cut it evenly without having to run to another part of the house for scissors.

MRS. B. D.

DEAR HELOISE: As always, you have inspired me to do some thinking and I made a wonderful discovery today.

For a long time, I have wanted to light the display shelves of my china cupboard (or breakfront as they are sometimes called).

Tonight I got out a string of tiny Christmas tree lights and found that they just fit inside the glass door frame of my china cupboard.

I attached this small string of lights with cellophane tape so as not to mark the wood.

DELORES DICKINSON.

Don't ever use brads or a staple gun on any kind of electrical wires, gals. It's dangerous. Either use tape or cup hooks or special brads made for this purpose. Lights should NEVER touch the wood but should hang free.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: So many dresses have back zippers now, and I was always snagging my hose when stepping into a dress.

Then I discovered that if I turn the dress around so that the zipper is in front when I step into it, I can avoid any snags.

CLARA FLASDICK.

3 City Officials Seek State Aid

Mayor George Willshaw, Robert Vodrey, saefty - service director and City Engineer George Bloomgren were in Columbus today seeikng some $770,000 in Ohio highway funds for three projects in East Liverpool.

Last week the three conferred at Columbus with area legislators about the possibility of state funds for repair of Shadyside Ave., extension of the Lake-to-River Freeway through the East End and surfacing of Maine Blvd.

The Ohio Department of Highways, however, will administer the funds received from a bond issue approved in November. The three returned to Columbus today in an attempt to learn if East Liverpool can receive a share of the monies.

It has been estimated the Freeway extension will cost about $400,000, the Maine Blvd. project around $100,000, and the Shadyside Ave. work the remainder. The Shadyside project is a joint venture with Columbiana County commissioners.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the outcast Teamsters and Auto Workers unions begin contributing dues next month to a labor alliance which the AFL-CIO calls a planned rival to the giant federation.

The two unions are shooting for a yearly budget of $4.3 million for their nationwide Alliance for Labor Action. Each of the two million Teamsters and 1.6 million members of the UAW will be assessed 10 cents a month.

Teamsters official Weldon L. Mathis said in an interview that the new alliance at first will try to organize workers in low-paying jobs in service industries, hospitals and some chemical firms. Planned are such social action programs as low-cost housing and job training for the hard-core unemployed, he added.

The AFL-CIO executive council said recently that the two unions had been raiding the federation's membership. Not true, said Mathis.

In a statement, the AFL-CIO said," it is apparent that the purpose of this (alliance) is formation of a dual organization rival to the AFL-CIO."

Federation president, George Meany, has also threatened to expel any of his 122 unions that join the alliance.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., has payed his first call on President Nixon. Is he at peace with the Nixon administration? he was asked by newsmen.

"I think as much as with the Johnson administration," he chuckled.

McCarthy said he and Nixon Tuesday had a general discussion on such matters as taxes, Vietnam and campus unrest.

The senator said Nixon did not say anything about Vietnam that he has not already said publicly. McCarthy said he thought it was good there seems to have been "some movement toward a coalition government, a fusion government of some sort" in Vietnam.

McCarthy said he agrees that students and faculty should have more responsibility on campuses, but did not know if Nixon felt the same way.

McCarthy reaffirmed his announced decision not to stand again for his seat. "That's still my position. I haven't changed," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP)— A second round of talks in Peru's seizure of an American oil company is in store with the expected arrival Friday of a Peruvian mission.

President Nixon has delayed economic sanctions called for by law, hoping more time may produce a settlement.

Peru seized $120 million in facilities of a Standard Oil of New Jersey subsidiary last October. The ruling junta has payed nothing, contending instead that the company owes Peru $690 million in back taxes.

The capital's city government is considering a plan allowing 200 young convicts to live and work in the city. Some would go from court to a community residence without ever entering prison. Proponents contend city prison life is embittering and does little to help a man.

Pennsylvania GOP Senators Say Hold Line On Spending

By JOHN L. TAYLOR

HARRISBURG (AP) — A majority of Senate Republicans have joined with their counterparts in the House in proposing that the state "hold the line" on new spending and negate the need for an income tax.

Sixteen GOP senators Tuesday introduced a $1.9 billion general appropriations bill calling for $112 million in cuts from the budget which Gov. Shafer submitted to the General Assembly in January.

Key sponsors of the bills said they would suggest additional cuts at some future date when they offer companion measures relating to grants to state-related universities, medical schools and other private institutions.

Shafer requested a total $2.52 billion for the coming fiscal year, representing a record 25 per cent increase in state spending. He also recommended imposition of an income tax and increased business taxes to finance the increase.

House Republicans, who backed Shafer's 1967 tax program, served notice on the governor early that they would not support an income tax and offered a counter budget requiring no new revenues.

Although Senate Republicans have refrained from endorsing the House GOP plan, their action in proposing a scaled-down general appropriations bill appeared to reinforce feelings of many lawmakers that the income tax was dead.

The General Assembly was in recess today, after meeting only two days this week. Both House and Senate were scheduled to reconvene Monday.

2 Unions Seeking Credit For Ohio Pay Boost Bill

By DIANA STOVER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two unions would like to take credit for a bill in the Ohio Legislature calling for $41.5 million in pay increases and hospitalization insurance benefits for state workers.

"I'm quite convined that if it were not for the militant stance taken by the state employes union that the pay raises would not have been proposed," said Al Bilik, director of Council 21 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (AFSCME)

On Tuesday, James F. Marshall, executive secretary of the Ohio Civil Service Employes Association, noted that the bill resulted from "week-long negotiations" with his organization.

Both unions indicated the bill could be stronger. Bilik said it was "not enough, but a step forward," and Marshall termed it "an excellent starting point."

The bill was introduced in the Senate Tuesday by the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Robert R. Shaw, R-16 Columbus. It provides pay raises for 87 per cent of the state's 47,000 employes and a new hospitalization plan for all of them.

Under the bill, all state workers making $4 an hour or less would get a raise.

Bilik said he felt the state administration "is working on the basis of good faith" and hinted that his union may call off its planned April 30 day of mourning for state employes.

A work boycott was called for that day to protest wages state workers receive.

In other action the Senate passed, as expected, a bill to require a conglomerate wanting to take over an Ohio firm to make a full disclosure of the assets and its reorganization plan for that firm.

The bill passed as an emergency by a 30-2 vote and now goes to the House.

Sens. Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Piqua and Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, voted against it.

Gray said he was against the "principle" of the bill because in the past Ohio industries have asked to be left alone, but now want the legislature to give them protection from out - of-state conglomerate takeovers.

Mottl, echoing statements made by conglomerate interests in committee hearings, said "nothing will kill a deal faster than the delay caused by a hearing."

One of the bill's sponsors, Sen. William W. Taft, R - 26 Cleveland, told the Senate the bill is not aimed at preventing conglomerate takeovers, but only at establishing "ground rules."

Introduced in the Senate was a bill to convey 3.5 acres of the county home farm in Fairfield County to Ohio University.

2 Face Prison Terms In Ohio Girl Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—Two New York men face prison terms of up to 25 years for the rape slaying last summer of a 13-year-old runaway Ohio girl.

Ronnie Alfo, 27, and David Thomas, 31, pleaded guilty Tuesday to first-degree rape charges. They were acused of luring Deborah Neill of Vickery, Ohio, into a Chinatown apartment on the night of July 15, 1968 and then raping her. The girl's body was found later at the bottom of an airshaft in the building.

Ohio Man Charged In Shotgun Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Connie James, 22, was charged with first-degree murder Tuesday night in the shotgun death of Clarence C. Brown, 48, the father of seven children, police reported.

Three other persons were taken into custody as material witnesses.

The body of Brown, last seen Thursday night when he left home to go on a camping trip, was found the next day in the trunk of an abandoned car here.

BOLTON, England (AP) — Boys under the age of 13 have been banned from free movie shows organized by Bolton Town Council — unless they are accompanied by adults. But young girls can still go to the shows on their own. The organizers say the girls, unlike the boys, are well behaved.

Bows To British Ultimatum

North Irish Party OKs 1-Man, 1-Vote Principle

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Northern Ireland's ruling Unionist party bowed today to a British ultimatum and accepted the principle of "one-man, one-vote in local council elections.

The vote, in a caucus of the party's representation in the provincial Parliament was 28 to 22. The narrow majority underlined the gravity of the split among Prime Minister Terence O'Neill's Unionists, and signaled that more political battles are to come before the universal franchise is established here.

"One-man, one-vote" is the principal rallying cry of the civil rights demonstrators who for the past six months have thrown Northern Ireland into riot and strife. The campaigners argue that the present voting system, where votes are tied to property taxation, acts unfairly against the Roman Catholics who make up a third of the 1.5 million population.

The vote for full franchise followed a declaration by the British government in London that it could not stand by and see British citizens deprived of equal voting rights. Although Northern Ireland has its own Parliament and controls most local issues. Britain retains an overriding voice through residual powers.

The decision was, however, hedged around with qualifications which may aggravate rather than ease Northern Ireland's current unrest.

The decision came under immediate attack from Brian Faulkner, the 47-year-old former commerce minister who is O'Neill's principal rival for control of the divided Unionist party.

O'Neill threatened to resign unless his ruling Unionist party, which is predominantly Protestant, backed his about-face espousal of the principle of "one man, one vote" in local elections.

Universal suffrage has been the main demand of Catholic civil rights demonstrators, but the concession is certain to further inflame Protestant extremists, who accuse the Catholics of trying to take Northern Ireland out of the United Kingdom and join it to the Irish Republic.

Police with night sticks repeatedly charged a mob of Protestant extremists, who stoned shops and buses in a Catholic district of Belfast Tuesday night. The rioters met the police with a hail of rocks, chunks of steel and firebombs.

No casualty figures were announced but several persons were known to be injured, some seriously.

O'Neill's "one man, one vote" call was a political somersault made under pressure from British Prime Minister Harold Wilson. In the past he had refused to change the existing voting system, under which only property owners and householders can vote in local elections. This favors the Protestants in some predominantly Catholic areas.

Universal suffrage is already the rule in parliamentary elections. The Catholics, who number about a third of Northern Ireland's 1.5 million people, claim they also are discriminated against in housing and jobs.

Unionist members of the provincial parliament were called to special meeting to decide on the voting issue and the future of O'Neill's government.

O'Neill has been prime minister for six years. His party is badly divided on the issue of Catholic civil rights, and some commentators forecast it might split into two separate parties. One faction supports O'Neill's attempts to conciliate the Catholics; the other is sticking with the true-blue Protestanism that was the original foundation of the Unionist party.

O'Neill's position has been weakened by his government's inability to quell the violent riots that began six months ago in Londonderry and spread to other cities. He suffered a personal setback in February's election of a new provincial parliament, only narrowly retaining his seat against a challenge by the Rev. Ian Paisley, the leading Protestant extremist.

The 22-year-old girl whom an Ulster district elected to the British Parliament last week took her seat in the House of Commons Tuesday and in her maiden speech derided O'Neill as "the white liberal of Northern Ireland."

Bernadette Devlin, a 22-year-old Catholic activist, also assailed Britain's Labor government, saying, "A Socialist government with guts would have got rid of him long ago."

Judge To Determine Course Of Peters Case On Thursday

LISBON — Judge Louis Tobin of Juvenile Court will decide Thursday afternoon whether to retain jurisdiction of a contributing charge against a suspended East Liverpool policeman or refer the case to the grand jury for consideration as statutory rape.

A 16-year-old East Liverpool girl testified Tuesday afternoon at a preliminary hearing that she and Arthur Peters, 29, had sexual relations the night of March 6 in his car on a hill behind the O. S. Hill garage in East End.

THE GIRL said she was 16 years old March 16. She was the only witness examined during the two - hour hearing and admitted under cross - examination that the defendant did not force her to submit. She said she had sexual intercourse with a boy "once before."

Peters had pleaded not guilty March 27 to a charge of taking indecent liberties with a minor child by having sexual intercourse with her.

A probationary police officer with 10 months service, Peters was suspended from the force March 26 pending outcome of the case. He stepped down as president of the East Liverpool chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People during the court action.

Defense Counsel Lawrence W. Smith of East Liverpool asked the court to retain jurisdiction rather than send the case to the Grand Jury.

AFTER A private conference with the judge, the girl's parents and Assistant Prosecuting Atty. John B. McDonald of East Liverpool concurred in Smith's request that the case be kept in Juvenile Court.

However, McDonald said he could not give the court assurance the prosecutor's office will not present the case to the Grand Jury as a felony whatever the outcome of a Juvenile Court hearing

Judge Tobin said the prosecutor may legally do that, but he said he does not think it would be fair to make the defendant stand trial twice for the one act. The judge asked McDonald to find out what the prosecutor intends to do and report Thursday.

If the case is retained, Judge Tobin said, he will demand a written waiver of jury trial from the defendant and a statement of his willingness to let the girl's testimony yesterday be part of any future hearing. Smith said those conditions would be satisfactory.

Vietnam

the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong are receiving supplies and replacements and conserving their strength for a possible summer-autumn offensive while continuing the nin-week-old spring offensive with rocket and mortar attacks.

New Offensive Hinted

"They seem to be preparing for another offensive," said one officer of the 3rd Military Corps zone that stretches from below Saigon to the Cambodian border. "They are now holding meetings, reassessing what they've accomplished and planning new actions."

Military spokesmen reported 11 overnight shellings of allied bases and towns, one of the quietest nights since the offensive started Feb. 23.

Thirty rockets and mortar shells hit an American brigade headquarters of the 25th Infantry Division 55 miles northwest of Saigon. One U.S. soldier was killed and 16 were wounded.

Futher reports from the U.S. Marine ambush of North Vietnamese troops crossing a river southwest of Da Nang Monday night said Marine officers now estimate more than 200 of the enemy were killed instead of 50 as reported earlier. One Marine was wounded.

Spot North Vietnamese

Marine officers said a 12-man squad stationed on the north bank of the Vu Gia River spotted the North Vietnamese soldiers moving out of the woods with bamboo sampans to cross the 330-yard-wide stream.

The Marines quietly called in reinforcements and at the same time readied artillery fire. They held their fire until the main enemy column was in midstream, then opened up.

Field reports said 17 sampans loaded with war supplies were wiped out. The Marines estimated they killed 70 soldiers in the sampans, 50 who were guiding the sampans, 27 who were wading through the shallow river and another 57 North Vietnamese on the south shore.

Only 14 enemy bodies were found in freshly dug, shallow graves the next day. Officers said the Marines estimated the other dead by the light of flareships and with sophisticated devices for seeing in the night.

Kent Students Slate Vote On Class Boycott

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Students at Kent State University vote today on whether to hold a four-day classroom boycott at the 18,000-student campus in protest against suspension of students involved in recent campus demonstrations.

In additional to reinstatement of all students suspended, demands include lifting the suspension of the Kent chapter of Students for a Democratic Society and implimentation of the student conduct code as of November, 1968, by the administration.

Tuesday Kent President Robert I. White announced the formation of an emergency student-faculty commission to resolve campus problems White said the commission to "investigate and satisfactorily resolve present conflicts" was created by the student government and the faculty senate.

The Concerned Citizens of the KSU Community, held a teach-in on campus Tuesday night to acquaint students with the issues involved in today's vote.

There have been campus disorders off and on for three weeks at Kent State.

Crime

imprisonment of a Mafia lieutenant can curtail operations, but does not put the syndicate out of business," he said.

"As long as the property of organized crime remains, new leaders will step forward to take the place of those we jail.

"However, if we can levy fines on their real estate corporations, if we can seek treble damages against their trucking firms and banks, if we can seize the liquor in their warehouses, I think we can strike a critical blow at the organized crime conspiracy," Nixon contended.

Nixon hit hard during his presidential campaign on the issues of violence, illegal gambling and organized crime's infiltration of legitimate business. And he called the nation's booming crime rate "a great national disaster."

Today's message will be followed by other detailed explanations on narcotics, obscenity, the rights of accused persons and, presumably, crime in the streets.

Nixon had proposed in his budget message last week the Justice Department get $16 million more in the next fiscal year than proposed by former President Johnson to boost its war on illegal operations, the only request he made for hiking a Johnson spending figure.

Nixon as a campaigner pinned part of the blame for the rising crime rate on Supreme Court decisions, and he has indicated he would support laws which would help police regain some weapons they have lost through high court decisions.

Rhodes Heads Washington Visit

Ohio Delegation Informs HUD Of Cities Fund Need

WASHINGTON (AP)—A delegation of Ohio mayors, city managers and state officials, led by Gov. James A. Rhodes, have given the secretary of Housing and Urban Development a first-hand glimpse of Ohio cities' federal development fund needs.

Rhodes said their meeting Tuesday with Secretary George Romney was an attempt to eliminate the time - consuming process of working through the state as a middleman in applying for federal money.

Democratic and Republican mayors were represented at the hour-long conference. Columbus Mayor Maynard E. Sensenbrenner described the bipartisan conference as "the ecumenical movement in government."

Rhodes told reporters later that Ohio is getting a warmer response from the Nixon administration than it had received from former President Johnson.

Sidney Spector, first assistant to Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes, complained to Romney that present Federal Housing Administration policies on loans are excellent for rural areas but don't work in central cities. Spector said the need for housing loans is greatest in ghetto areas, where many are refused because of high business risks.

"We must take chances in ghetto areas," Spector said.

Romney agreed that many FHA lending policies hamper city development, but said he is working to raise lending ceilings for cities. He noted his department's budget is $800 million more than last year.

Romney was discussing the Model Cities program when Dayton city manager Graham Watt conplained it is moving too slow. Romney replied that the program is lagging because the Johnson administration launched it on a "phoney" start.

He said the program was handicapped because the cities named for grants under the program—including nine in Ohio—were selected before the administration was ready to go ahead. Romney said the early selection of the cities were "publicity actions."

Romney said he is optimistic that the program can be speeded up. He said the Nixon budget for next year earmarks $675 million for Model Cities, double the amount available this year.

Other Ohio officials attending the meeting included John S. Ballard mayor of Arkon; Stanley Cmich, mayor of Canton; David Hall, mayor of Dayton; William Ensign, mayor of Toledo; Albert G. Giles, director of the Ohio Department of Urban Affairs, and Richard Krabach, city manager of Cincinnati.

Two area motorists had their licenses suspended this morning when they appeared before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on charges of speeding. They had been cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Faye L. Hollinger, 20, of Bell School Rd. was fined $20 and costs and her license suspended for 30 days for driving 90 miles an hour in a 70-mile zone last Saturday on Route 30.

Albert Leroy Ketchum of Salineville RD 2 was fined $20 and costs and given a license suspension of 15 days. He was cited on Route 7 Tuesday for doing 82 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

During an earlier hearing, Collins told the judge he was to leave for the service yesterday.

plan of settlement fo the Middle East crisis.

Some diplomats at the United Nations in New York said the recurrent fighting might indeed be prodding the Big Four to greater effort. They added that the alarmist tone of Thant's report left him open to charges that he was agreeing with the contention by Egypt and Jordan that war is inevitable unless the Big Four force Israel into a settlement acceptable to the Arabs. Israel, which opposes outside intervention, denies that there is danger of war.

Thant in a special report to the U.N. Security Council said the council's cease-fire resolutions had "become almost totally ineffective" through 12 straight days of fighting along the canal. But the council president for April, Maj. Gen. Padma Bahadur of Nepal, polled the other council members, and they decided not to hold a special meeting on the report.

The council members agreed that at this time debate might have an adverse effect on the Big Four talks, sources reported.

The U.S. State Department, associating itself with Thant's report, called on Israel and the Arab states to "take effective measures" to maintain the cease-fire and "avoid all actions which aggravate the tense situation."

Israelis today continued their celebration of the 21st anniversary of the Jewish state's formation following a day of fighting on three fronts. Israel's independence was proclaimed May 14, 1948, but the anniversary falls on April 23 this year, according to the Hebrew lunar calendar.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Police cleared more than 50 students from a small campus chapel at Marquette University, where they gathered to protest the school's ROTC program.

Marshall, Tex.—Students at all-Negro Wylie College rejected a trustees' report on earlier disorders and said a class boycott was "entirely possible." The trustees had accepted student demands for more academic freedom and amnesty, but refused to fire President T. Winston Cole.

Tax Money Loss Discussed By PTA Federation

The possible loss of some $2,000,000 in school funds was discussed during a meeting of the City Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations Tuesday night in the high school.

The loss of funds would result, William C. Thornberry, president, pointed out, if city voters fail to renew two school tax levies in May. That would mean a direct loss of $678,000, and ultimately a loss of more than $1,353,0000, in state aid, he added.

Guests included Thomas Rodfong, board of education member; Leo Lawrence, chairman of a citizens group promoting passage of the levies, and Carl Pelini, assistant superintendent of schools.

The three spoke briefly, and the 20 members of the group attending held an informal discussion on the levies and the general school situation.

Thornberry said a levy defeat would bring total school taxation to less than the 17.5 mills required by state law for reducation foundation funds.

The sheriff's contest last November originally was decided in Smoleski's favor by a 27-vote margin, but it later was ruled that 285 ballots in one Weirton precinct were invalid because they lacked signatures of two receiving board clerks.

This reversed the outcome, making Patrick the winner by 52 votes. The Hancock County Court installed Patrick as sheriff Feb. 10. Then, in a March 28 decision, the Supreme Court ordered the County Court to reexamine the disputed ballots.

Eye transplant recipients, unlike heart recipients, face few organ rejection problems because the eye does not have as many exposed blood vessels, Moore said.

Dr. Alden N. Haffer, director of the Optometric Center of New York, commented:

The severe pain was eased and the youngster reported he felt much better, although there was some discomfort from the latest incision. Mrs. McCraw said her son looked "much better."

Doctors had been concerned about the continuing infection which had caused a high fever until new antibiotics were administered last week. They were uncertain if the new kidney was being rejected.

However, Mrs. McCraw said the physicians reported last night, "We're still in the ball game!"

A 15-year-old Beaver Falls girl received the other kidney.

East Liverpool's Bernie Allen, with doubles Sunday and Monday, has raised his season's average to .250 on 3 for 12.

Allen started the year riding the bench for the Washington Senators, as Tim Cullen was hitting well. But Cullen has gone into a slump, so manager Ted Williams inserted Allen at second base to try to add some punch to the lineup.

Allen, who played six years with the Twins before joining the Senators last season, still is among Minnesota's all-time leaders in several departments. He is eighth in doubles with 75, ninth in home runs with 32, in games with 492, in at bats with 1,595, in RBI's with 163 and in extra-base hits with 117, and 10th in hits with 392 and triples with 10.

LORENA McMATH of Chester, bowling on Pittsburgh's Channel 4 Saturday, won her match by 16 pins. Miss McMath, bowling well beneath her average, lost the first two games, but rolled a 173 in the final game to pull out the match. She is now on the Channel 4 flight board for possible entry into the finals.

ONE OF THE reasons the Boston Celtics are are so successful in the NBA is their depth. The Celts had seven players averaging in double figures this season, and Bill Russell just missed with 9.9. The Lakers, who will take on the Celtics in the final playoffs, have only four players in double figures, but three of them, Jerry West, Elgin Baylor and Wilt Chamberlain, combined for 70 points a game. All of the nine players who were in at least three fourths of the Lakers games scored at least 6.2 points a game. Mel Counts hit a surprising 12.4 a contest. After Russell, the Celtics drop off to 5.7 averages or worse. John Halvicek led Boston with a 21.6 average and Larry Siegfried added 14.2.

Ron (Fritz) Williams of Weirton and WVU averaged 7.8 points a game for the San Francisco Warriors, seventh on the team. Rod Thorn, another former WVU star, averaged 11.5 points a game in only 29 games for Seattle. West of course, led the ex-WVUers with a 25.9 average, the second best average in the league.

Giant Win Ends Dodger Streak

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

All good things must come to an end and the Los Angeles Dodgers can testify to that. But do all bad things come to an end—that's what the Houston Astros would like to know.

The Dodgers' good thing ended at six straight victories Tuesday night when they absorbed a 6-0 defeat at the hands of the San Francisco Giants. Houston's bad thing kept right on going as the Astros took a 14-0 secutive loss.

In other National League action Tuesday, Montreal shut out St. Louis 2-0, Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from Chicago 7-5 and 6-5 and San Diego socked Atlanta 8-4. Philadelphia's game at New York was postponed by rain.

In the American League, Oakland shut out Minnesota 7-0, Boston battered New York 8-2, California blanked Chicago 8-0, Kansas City edged Seattle 2-1, Baltimore nipped Cleveland 3-2 and Detroit downed Washington 4-2.

Ray Sadecki put an end to the Dodgers' tidy little string of victories, limiting LA to six hits—only two after the second inning.

Bobby Bonds socked his second home run of the season for the Giants, who shelled Don Drysdale and tagged the Dodger ace with his second loss in three decisions.

An error by Ted Sizemore led to a pair of unearned runs for the Giants in the fourth and San Francisco knocked out Drysdale with three more in the next inning.

Drysdale was downcast afterwards and talked about possible retirement because of an arm injury.

"I'm not making any excuses," Drysdale said. "But I'm going to have to do some serious soul searching in the next few days. I just can't get anything on the ball. I'm not going to keep going like this."

Then Drysdale hedged, saying he would continue to take his regular turn "if Mr. Alston wants it that way." Manager Walt Alston said he believed Drysdale, a Dodger starter for 13 years, had better stuff than he did in his two previous outings.

Tony Perez clubbed four hits including a two-run homer and Johnny Bench drove in five runs in Cincinnati's drubbing of Houston. The Astros managed just three hits against Mel Queen and Clay Carroll.

Queen, attempting a comeback from arm trouble, worked six innings before his arm acted up and Carroll took over. The Reds rapped 18 hits and ran their two-game totals to 25 runs against the Astros.

Bill Stoneman, who hurled a no-hitter in his last start, came back with a second straight shutout as Montreal blanked St. Louis. Stoneman allowed six hits and got the only run he needed when Rusty Staub singled home an unearned run in the first inning.

Pittsburgh cooled off the Cubs with rookie Bob Robertson playing a key role in the doubleheader sweep.

Robertson doubled home a pair of runs in the fourth inning of the opener and then delivered the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning. Robertson had tripled and scored earlier and Willie Stargell had whacked a grand slam home run.

Chuck Hartenstein in the first game and Ron Kline in the second turned in airtight relief to hold the Cubs off.

Ollie Brown walloped a three-run homer, highlighting a six-run San Diego explosion in the sixth inning that carried the Padres past Atlanta. Brown also had a single and a double and drove in four runs.

Ken Harrelson Agrees To Report To Indians

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ken Harrelson entered the baseball commissioner's office a Hawk, came out a drove and immediately flapped his wings in the direction of the baseball and financial districts of Cleveland.

"Ken Harrelson will be in Cleveland Wednesday night and will be in uniform when the Indians play the New York Yankees," Gabe Paul, president and general manager of the Indians, announced with a sigh of relief Tuesday night.

A four-hour session in the office of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn thus settled the six-player trade between the Indians and Boston Red Sox which was thrown into confusion Sunday when Harrelson, a slugging outfielder-first baseman, said he would retire from baseball rather than report to Cleveland and lose an estimated $750,000 in business opportunities in Boston.

The Hawk and pitchers Dick Ellsworth and Juan Pizarro were sent to Cleveland Saturday for pitchers Sonny Siebert and Vicento Romo and catcher Joe Azcue. The other players had been ordered withheld from action until the deal was ironed out and Boston manager Dick Williams immediately named Siebert as today's starter against Washington.

Besides Harrelson, Kuhn and Paul, Dick O'Connell, general manager of the Red Sox, Joe Cronin, American League president, and Bob Woolf, Harrelson's lawyer, sat in on the Tuesday talks.

"I went in there determined to stay out," Harrelson insisted, "but they are very persuasive gentlemen, particularly Mr. Kuhn and Mr. Paul. They started working on me right away and I fought back. They argued and I replied, but after a while they started to win me over. At one point I felt like a little schoolboy about to get a spanking.

"They made me realize what I was doing was bad for myself and that I should be back in baseball. I'm glad to have settled this thing. I feel great. I'm a ballplayer. I want to get back and do my thing."

Paul and Harrelson refused to disclose financial terms, saying only that Harrelson would play under the terms of his Red Sox contract. Paul added, however, that Harrelson signed an additional contract for the 1970 season.

And the mod, mod Hawk—dressed in blue bellbottom slacks, white boots, white turtleneck sweater, ascot tie held by a gold clasp and blue jacket—was looking forward to captivating the folks in Cleveland as he did in Boston.

"They convinced me the outside opportunities in Cleveland could be the same as in Boston," he said. "If we win the pennant in Cleveland, I'm sure the same business opportunities would be open to me there.

"My Boston interests are solid, although my future business there probably would be hurt by not being there. I've got gambling blood in me. I'm ready to get out and try. Everything is based on performance."

Harrelson also said he was concerned about the five other players, who had been in a state of limbo for three days.

Indians Lose Again, Red Sox Keep Going

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians, given one last chance, proved again that only good can come from finally landing The Hawk.

After Ken Harrelson decided to forego retirement Tuesday evening and report to Cleveland the Indians went out and celebrated in what has become their accustomed way—by losing.

Showing why they need Harrelson's big bat, the Indians were grounded by the Baltimore Orioles 3-2 Tuesday night for their seventh consecutive defeat and 11th in 12 games this season.

Meanwhile, the Boston Red Sox showed again they can win without Harrelson, unloading four home runs to beat the New York Yankees 8-3 for their second victory in three starts since trading Harrelson last Saturday.

In other games, the Detroit Tigers rallied for a 4-2 decision over Washington, Kansas City fought for a 2-1 victory over Seattle, Oakland trounced Minnesota 7-0 and California mauled the Chicago White Sox 8-0.

The Indians, desperately needing some fire power after scoring only 34 runs in 12 games, this time rolled over and died for Tom Phoebus and Pete Richert.

Phoebus, raising his record to 3-0, yielded only three hits before walking the bases full with two out in the eighth inning, but Richert came on to retire Max Alvis on one pitch and blank the Indians in the ninth.

Cleveland needed a walk, stolen base, passed ball and an error to get one run and Larry Brown homered for the other.

But the Orioles, who humbled the Indians 11-0 the night before, won this one on Boog Powell's first homer that broke a 2-2 deadlock in the fifth inning.

Boston, on the other hand, showed little affect from losing the American League's run batted in champion of 1968 as Mike Andrews, Rico Petrocelli and Carl Yastrzemski slammed solo homers and Tony Conigliaro belted a three-run shot in the fourth, breaking a 2-2 tie.

The attack against Stan Bahnsen, 0-4, made it easy for unbeaten Ray Culp, who won his third in a row with a four-hitter. Only Joe Pepitone's two-run homer troubled him.

Detroit was having hitting troubles against Camilo Pascual, who had a one-hitter—Bill Freehan's homer—entering the ninth inning before the Tigers broke loose.

Pinch hitter Tom Matchick opened the ninth with a hit and Gates Brown, another pinch hitter, walked. Then Dick McAuliffe finished Pascual with a two-run triple and Al Kaline followed with a sacrifice fly.

Kansas City used Pat Kelly's elusive slide home on Lou Piniella's short sacrifice fly in the fifth inning to break a 1-1 deadlock for its victory, but not before a battle royal.

The benches and bullpens of both teams emptied with numerous fights in the fourth inning after the Royals' Ellie Rodriguez bowled over second baseman Tommy Harper of the Pilots on a force play. First Rodriguez and Harper squared off, prompting their teammates to join them.

Eyes Bout With Quarry

Frazier KOs Zyglewicz In Only 96 Seconds

HOUSTON (AP) — Now that he has disposed of a bricklayer with two vicious swings of his wicked left hook, the question before boxing circles today was whether Joe Frazier is ready to risk his share of the world's heavyweight title against rugged Jerry Quarry.

It took the quick-fisted Frazier only 96 seconds to destroy unknown and unranked Dave Zyglewicz Tuesday night in the Philadelphian's third title defense.

A press conference was called for noon, EST, today by the Madison Square Garden Boxing, Inc. for "an important announcement concerning a major title."

Speculation was that Frazier had been offered a quarter of a million dollars to meet Quarry, the No. 2 World Boxing Association heavyweight, June 23 in the Garden.

Yancey "Yank" Durham, Frazier's manager, said, "we're still dickering. It looks pretty good. That much money would sure be hard to turn down."

Dan Cunningham Gets Oregon St. Scholarship

Dan Cunningham of East Liverpool has accepted a football scholarship to Oregon State University at Corvallis, Oregon.

Cunningham played quarterback on this year's 8-2 Potter football team. He set a school record for most yards gained passing in a game and was honorable mention all-state UPI.

Cunningham visited the OSU campus this past weekend and was recruited by assistant coach Bud Riley. Dee Andros, otherwise known as "The Great Pumpkin", is the head football coach of the Beavers. Andros builds his team around speed rather than size, so Cunningham figures to fit right in. The OSU offense revolves around the quarterback, with lots of rollouts and option plays, another factor that pleases Cunningham.

The scholarship overs tuition and room and board. Cunningham is the farthest East OSU recruit this year. He will also play baseball for the Beavers.

Beaver Local Golfers Top Springfield

The Beaver Local golf team, defying the rain, won its fifth match of the season against two losses with a 182-201 triumph over Springfield Local at the East Liverpool Country Club yesterday.

Bob Eardley and Rick Metz paced the Beavers with 43s. John Torma had a 46 and Dave Bentz a 50.

Dick Marlowe led Springfield with a 45, Glen Milton had a 46, Rick Carano a 53 and Fred Kihm a 57.

For Ideas On Anti-Poverty Program

Rumsfeld Cites OEO As Test Tube

WASHINGTON (AP) — Donald Rumsfeld, a congressman who fought creation of the Office of Economic Opportunity, says the agency under his direction will be a test tube for ideas rather than an administrator of antipoverty programs.

Rumsfeld the Illinois Republican named this week by President Nixon to run the antipoverty agency, said in an interview, OEO will be "a very special mechanism . . . an incubator for ideas," aimed at producing "precise and responsive solutions to problems" of the poor.

One the OEO think tank decides an idea is workable, its administration will, if possible, be passed to other agencies to administer, the 36-year-old Prineton graduate said.

Rumsfeld, whose district covers some of Chicago's wealthiest suburbs, said that his opposition to OEO's creation in 1966 and his later votes against funds for the ageny did not mean he was against any government antipoverty efforts.

There were better alternatives, he said.

Some of the choices offered by Republicans, including Nixon and Rumsfeld, when President Johnson formed OEO as part of his War on Poverty were proposals that old line agencies run the programs.

Nixon has followed that line with his recent order moving two key projects from OEO to other agencies—the Job Corps to the Labor Department and Project Head Start to the Office of Education.

Rumsfeld's general plans—he did not offer any specifics—indicate approval of such moves and the probability of more.

Rumsfeld sees his more than six years in Congress—a seat he will give up upon Senate confirmation—as proof that he is a problem solver. His office wall is adorned with a poster reading: "If you're not part of the solution . . . You're part of the problem.

As part of his scientific problem solving approach, he said, "OEO will develop approaches and ideas that can be tested and made workable . . . and if they cannot work, they will be stopped."

Rumsfeld also indicated it is difficult to put a price tag on what his agency will produce or expect immediate results.

"The measurement of OEO should not be in the volume of dollar flow-through," he said. "I believe the job is to think and make recommendations and then, through demonstration, to function."

Not everything will work that OEO tries, Rumsfeld admitted. "Failures are to be expected," he said. But "every finding that things do not work is progress when you are in the research and development field. Part of the past difficulties in this field have arisen because there is so much we don't know."

Driver Charged In Area Mishap

A Toronto driver was cited for speed in excess of safe road conditions Tuesday afternoon following a two-car collision on Route 7 a third of a mile north of Steubenville.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Wintersville aid a car driven by Michael S. Sokol, 23, of 1329 Madison Ave., Toronto, was rammed from behind by the vehicle operated by Roy Franklin Ross, 21, of 609 N. 5th St., Toronto.

Ofifcers said Sokol had slowed to avoid hitting an unidentified motorist when the Ross auto rammed his car.

The Ross car was heavily damaged, while Sokol's auto had moderate damage, officers said.

Flood Crest Rolls Southward

Iowa, Illinois Residents Patrol Dikes And Levees

By The Associated Press

Residents along the Mississippi River in Iowa and Illinois maintained patrols on dikes and levees today as one of the highest flood crests of the century rolled southward.

The Mississippi was above flood stage from Libby, Minn., to Cape Girardeau, Mo. The crest was expected to reach Prairie du Chien, Wis., today and Dubuque, Iowa, Saturday.

The Weather Bureau said the river would crest at 6.6 feet above flood stage at Dubuque.

Most riverside communities were confident that reinforced defense systems would save them from the spring flooding that has already caused an estimated $49 million damage to the north.

But the Army Corps of Engineers urged constant vigilance over the seawalls, heightened levees, emergency dikes and drainage areas and warned the most dangerous period was yet to come.

The aftermath of the crest would be critical, it said, because the earthen levees, weakened by river pressures, would be vulnerable to softening.

Some communities still have not fully recovered from the worst Mississippi flood on record, in 1965, when 38,000 persons fled their homes and damage mounted to $150 million.

In Minot, N.D., where the overflowing Souris River earlier had sliced the community in two, the waters pushed through a plugged culvert Tuesday, flooding an additional 100 homes.

One-third of the town's 35,000 residents already had been evacuated, but officials removed many more because of the leak beneath the Soo Line rail tracks. Army engineers used rock, clay and sandbags to stem the flow.

Overflows subsided on some tributaries of the Mississippi, particularly the Minnesota and the Des Moines. But only the Big Sioux of South Dakota had receded from flood stage and returned to its banks.

The crest on the northward-flowing Red River, which expanded to an 8-by-150-mile lake along the Minnesota-North Dakota border, surged toward Pembina, northernmost city below Canada.

In Wisconsin, the Mississippi was receding at La Crosse and points upstream and officials reported the situation under control.

Downstream in Wisconsin, cities were awaiting the crest. An estimated 100 to 150 families in Prairie du Chien were relocated weeks ago from the riverside area which is flooded almost annually.

In Cassville, the last Wisconsin town on the Mississippi flood route and hard hit by record 1965 depths, new levees constructed this year were holding up well and only three families were forced to evacuate.

The Weather Bureau flood control center in Hartford, Conn., predicted rain and issued flash flood warnings for small streams in southern Vermont and western Massachusetts and Connecticut.

In Dalton, Mass., the Housatonic River climbed above its banks and rose to first-floor level. But no damage was reported.

LisbonArea Man Unhurt In Farm Tractor Accident

A 20-year-old Lisbon area man escaped serious injury Tuesday when his 1961 farm tractor went off Route 45 just north of Wellsville, hit a parked truck and went over two embankments.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Alan H. Buzzard of Lisbon RD 2 was driving south at th time. The parked truck was owned by Donald K. Deem of 1222 Hillcrest Rd.

The tractor went over an embankment along the Pleasant Valley Rd. and over another embankment. Buzzard jumped from the tractor before it came to rest over a third embankment, officers said, after traveling out of control for 150 feet. The mishap occurred at 4:30 p.m.

Officers said a truck driver reported this morning at 4:12 his rig struck and killed a horse on Route 14 near the Midway Drive-In Theater.

Apollo Moon Program Due 'New Voice'

Paul Haney, "The Voice of Apollo," said he had been booted off the job after a series of acrimonious exchanges with Julian Scheer, chief of public affairs for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In Washington, the agency announced that a former newsman, Brian Duff, was taking over Haney's assignment.

Haney told newsmen at a conference Tuesday he had received orders to report to Washington Monday for a new job in NASA headquarters.

Haney said the move came after weeks of "badgering" from Scheer.

Scheer confirmed that Haney was getting a new job, but had no comment on Haney's account of what happened.

Scheer said Haney's new job would be to coordinate public affairs programs under development.

Haney had been chief of public affairs for the Manned Spacecraft Center, the working home of the nation's astronauts, at an annual salary of $21,000. He acted as the mission commentator for the first two Apollo missions, interpreting the space flights for the world and playing tapes of astronaut radio talk.

Haney, 40, said he was stunned by the job reassignment and that it might be "a governmental way of firing someone."

Deliberations Continue In Sirhan Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For 70 days the jurors in the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial have eaten together, relaxed together, slept in the same hotel and even agreed on a first degree murder verdict. But so far they obviously can't agree whether Sirhan shall live or die for murdering Robert F. Kennedy.

For 2½ hours Monday and 6½ Tuesday, the seven men and five women discussed the penalty without coming to a consensus—raising a small spectre of a hung jury in a trial that has lasted more than 15 weeks.

The deliberations were to start again at 8 a.m. today.

"I'm concerned about it," said Grant B. Cooper, the chief defense counsel, who sweated out the verdict in the courtroom. "Either a minority or a majority are voting for death."

Cooper had asked for a verdict of second degree murder—which carries a penalty of five years to life. After the jury voted first degree after 3½ days of deliberation, he pleaded that Sirhan's life be spared.

Prosecutor John E. Howard, who told the jury that since Sirhan was convicted of first degree murder "he has no special claim to further preservation," said he was not surprised by the length of penalty deliberations.

"I think they are giving it conscientious consideration," Howard said. "I never expected them back before Wednesday."

In California law, the jury decides the penalty for first degree murder with only two choices, life or death.

Should the jury report itself hopelessly deadlocked, the judge can himself impose the lesser penalty—life in prison. Or he can impanel a new jury for the penalty phase, requiring new presentation of evidence, more arguments.

Leaders Pay Tribute To Eugene Kettering

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—More than 500 government, business and military leaders paid tribute Tuesday to millionaire Dayton industrialist and philanthropist Eugene W. Kettering, who died Saturday in New York at age 60.

Mills, Byrnes Give Views

Tax Reform Plans Seen Short Of 'Tagging' Rich

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top Republican and Democratic members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee both say President Nixon's tax reform proposals do not go far enough in eliminating tax shelters for the very rich.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and the committee's ranking Republican, Wisconsin Rep. John W. Byrnes, said what is needed is the removal of exemptions and loopholes that allow some wealthy persons to avoid paying any federal income tax.

Nixon, they said, merely wants to limit the use of such tax shelters, not purge them from the tax structure.

They raised the issue Tuesday as Treasury Undersecretary Charles E. Walker and assistant secretary Edwin S. Cohen went before the committee to begin detailing what was emphasized as the administration's interim tax program.

Initial reaction from the committee, which passes on all tax bills, appeared favorable to two major elements of the program —halving the income surtax next year and repeal of the 7 per cent business investment credit.

These two issues are assured prompt consideration because the 10 per cent surtax is to expire completely June 30 unless Congress acts and Mills wants to link consideration of the surtax extension with repeal of the investment credit.

In discussing the advantages now enjoyed by high income earners, Mills indicated Nixon was timid in failing to call for an end to tax shelters.

"There is a momentum for change," Mills said. "I want us to act while this momentum exists, while taxpayers still remember what they paid on April 15."

Byrnes told newsmen he would not be surprised to see the committee go well beyond the administration suggestions.

Mills questioned the administration witnesses as to why they had not given more weight to the reduced tax on capital gains in drawing their interim proposals on tax shelters.

Walker and Cohen said a change in capital gains taxation would be a fundamental one, and the treasury is including it in the basic study Nixon has asked to be completed by Nov. 30.

Mills indicated to newsmen, however, that he will go into the subject before then. He has set an early August target date for House passage of a reform bill.

He said consideration of taxation on capital gains—profit made on sale of an asset—should include the possibility of varying the tax according to the length of time it is held and also the kind of property involved.

He said it is hard to justify taxing the profits on the sale of stock held for six months—the minimum period—in the same manner as the gain on a once-in-a-lifetime sale of a residence or a family business that may have been held for decades.

Wellsville Delays Newlin Event For Visit By Rhodes

A dinner scheduled in Wellsville in connection with a fund raising project for a memorial to Pfc. Melvin Newlin has been postponed to permit Gov. Rhodes to speak.

Pfc. Newlin who was fatally wounded in action in Vietnam in 1967 posthumously received the Congressional Medal of Honor last month.

Authorities said Gov. Rhodes's office indicated he would not be available to attend the May 29 event, so it was postponed until the Gov. can be present. He will be out of the country.

Plans call for a memorial to be erected at Springhill Cemetery.

Local Student, Others Treated In Emergencies

A Westgate Junior High student, injured while using a power saw, and six other area residents were treated Tuesday at City Hospital.

James Hill of 633 Avondale suffered a laceration of his left thumb while attempting to remove a piece of wood from a power saw at school.

Others treated and released were:

Marshall Optimistic

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — James F. Marshall, executive secretary of the Ohio Civil Service Employes Association, is optimistic about prospects for a pay raise for state employes, despite an austerity drive by the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Marshall, said a salary increase bill introduced in the Ohio General Assembly Tuesday is "an excellent starting point" in solving current wage grievances.

If Work Loads Bill Passes

Ohio's Universities Fear They'll Become Faceless

By DIANA STOVER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State universities fear they will become "faceless" if the legislature passes a bill to require the Ohio Board of Regents to determine faculty work loads and standards.

For two hours Tuesday state university officials paraded before the Ohio House Education Committee to testify against the substitute bill sponsored by the Chairman, Rep. Mark C. Schinnerer, R-49 Lakewood.

"We can regulate ourselves," Dr. Phillip R. Shriver, president of Miami University, told the committee.

Shriver said the bill "would make us faceless universities," forcing the 12 state universities into "close conformity."

He said if reform was needed it could be accomplished by the schools themselves.

Shriver, as well as most representatives from the universities, said they feared allowing the Regents to be changed from a coordinating board to a controlling board.

The bill requires the board to do five things by Sept. 1, 1969:

—Establish faculty workload standards.

— Set maximum enrollment limitations at the main campus of each state university.

— Establish standards for staffing departmental administration, library services instructional services, student personnel servies and general administration services.

— Set salary standards for general administrative personnel.

The president of troubled Kent State University, Dr. Robert White, said if the Regents set faculty standards, it would give "the finest aid and comfort to violent student protests.

White said faculty members "must feel they are participating and are shareholders" in the decisions made by the university.

"As you know, Kent State and myself have been tormented for the past two weeks," White said of the student unrest set off by the militant Students for a Democratic Society.

But, he added, partly because KSU faculty members feel they are part of the university, they have supported administration actions.

The president of the University of Akron, Norman P. Auburn, said the bill would "weaken the grass roots interest" in universities.

Findley Bill Will Ask U.S. Lift Trade Curbs With Reds

By JACK KNEECE
Associated PressWriter

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Illinois farm belt congressman says he will file Thursday a bill to remove American restrictions on trade with Communist China and European Iron Curtain countries.

Rep. Paul Findley, a Republican, said enactment of his proposal would open vital new markets for American farm surpluses.

"I firmly believe that U.S. moves showing we want to normalize relations with China and Eastern Europe will do more than anything else to make Soviet behavior more reasonable," Findley said in an interview.

U.S. law now forbids all trade with Red China. America does not recognize the Peking regime, accepting instead the government-in-exile on Formosa.

Last month two United States senators called for an easing of relations with China, but no legislative proposals were filed.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, called for admission of Red China to the UN, resumption of diplomatic relations and removal of travel and nonstrategic trade barriers.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Penn., said in Tokyo that the U.S. should initiate efforts to sign a commercial treaty with the mainland nation but did not propose abandonment of the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa.

Findley predicted that his trade bill will be denounced by some as radical and pro-Communist but he said the time has come for a change in U.S. attitudes.

Findley's program would lift the embargo on trade with China, rescind requirements for licensing agricultural exports to Communist countries, authorize a trade mission to Canton, China, and permit the President to extend tariff privileges to Czechoslovakia.

Kline Raps GOP For Lag In Legislation

HARRISBURG (AP) — The General Assembly decided to give itself an extra day off Tuesday by forgoing the usual Wednesday session but not before Senate Minority Leader Ernest P. Kline took time to blame the situation of the Senate Republicans.

"This session of the General Assembly is nearly four months old," Kline said. "Nearly 600 bills have been introduced in this chamber but the Senate has managed to pass only 58 of its own bills and just three of the 77 that were sent here by the House of Representatives."

The fault, he said, was with the Republicans who control all the committees.

"There has been little effort on the part of the Republican majority to make this a working session," the Democratic leader said.

He observed that the Senate calender for Tuesday carried only eight bills — two of them in position for final passage. The next day's calendar — next Monday — will carry only one bill in position for final passage.

A single bill was passed by the Senate Tuesday and sent to the House. It would change adoption laws to allow husbands or wives to adopt stepchildren.

Senate President Pro Tempore Robert D. Fleming, R - Allegheny, announced the formation of a five-man committee to investiage the cause of campus unrest as authorized by a recent Senate resolution.

"TO PUT A BITE IN YOUR KISS"

A NEW ADVENTURE is in the offing for Thor M. Heyerdahl, hero of the Kon-Tiki expedition. Heyerdahl, shown here supervising workmen, and a crew of six plan to sail from Morocco to "somewhere in Central America" in a bi-pod square sailboat resembling an Egyptian solar boat. The craft, made of papyrus reeds, will measure 45 feet long and 15 feet wide and will support a wicker cabin. Heyerdahl chose three men of the Reduuma tribe to build the vessel since they are experts in this type of construction. The adventurer plans to embark on the marathon Atlantic voyage in May.

The DOCTOR Says

Tantrum Crying Is Best Ignored

Dr. Brandstadt

A mother writes that her daughter, age 1, wakes up crying loudly three or four times every night. She has tried ignoring it, holding the child and giving her milk or water but nothing seems to help. This has been going on since the child was 5 months old. She is otherwise happy and healthy.

Going to sleep when put to bed, then waking up crying, usually starts with a bad cold, earahe or teething but when it persists for seven months or more it is a habit aimed at getting attention. If you can be sure the child isn't cold, hungry, thirsty or in pain it is best to ignore the crying.

This will be rough for a few nights but she will soon learn that nothing is to be gained by these outbursts and she will stop. The ignoring must be complete — no peeking into her room and no talking to her by you or your husband while the crying is going on.

Q — My grandson, 3½, cries every night when he is put to bed. His mother lets him cry himself to sleep but sometimes this takes two or three hours. How can she get him to go to sleep without crying?

A — This boy has developed an exaggerated fear of separation, probably as a result of some earlier experience. Children who have been brought up in a household with several persons in addition to their parents are less likely to fall into this behavior pattern.

A child of 3½ is old enough to be reasoned with. His mother should explain to him that she will be there in the morning, well and happy and ready to start a new day with him but that for now he'd best go right to sleep without any fuss.

She sould then quietly leave the room and let him cry if he feels he must. She should ask him in the morning what his reason was for crying and give him further reassurance.

Q — My daughter, age 13 months, has mucus in her stools whether they are formed or loose. Sometimes there is blood also. Where does the mucus come from? Should I have her stools examined?

A — Inflammation of the mucous lining of the bowel will stimulate the production of a large amount of mucus. The blood could be caused by a thick stool, amebic dysentery or ulcerative colitis. A thorough examinaton to determine the cause of the trouble should be made without delay.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Back Home In Tennessee

Gore Termed As Fighting For His 'Political Life'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Sen. Albert Gore, one of the most liberal of the senators from the Old Confederacy and a leading critic of the Vietnam war and the antiballistic missile proposals is fighting for his political life back home in Tennessee.

Despite his feverish fence mending, some supporters question whether the 61-year-old Democrat can withstand what one called "an anti-Democratic tide sweeping the southern half of the country."

A pair of youthful Republican House members—sharpening their weapons for the fight over Gore's seat—have denounced his ARM stand and his support of northerner Edward M. Kennedy against fellow southerner Russell B. Long for the Democratic whip post in the Senate.

As a measure of his concern Gore has made more than 40 personal appearances in his home state since January, is devoting long weekends to politicking, has set up offices in Memphis and Nashville, rented apartments in both cities and named his former campaign manager as a full-time $18,000 aide in western Tennessee.

Acknowledging his problems Gore told the Associated Press "I will be swimming upstream and the current is right swift. That about sums it up."

The two Republican congressmen eying the Gore seat are Rep. William E. Brock, 30 of the Brock candy family, and Rep. Dan H. Kuykendall, 44.

On the other side of the coin, some Republicans fear Brock and Kuykendall will drift into a primary battle over who will face Gore and give Democrats an opportunity to pick up a House seat.

Gore is aiming much of his efforts at Memphis and the rest of western Tennessee, an old Democratic fortress which turned to third party candidate George Wallace in the 1968 presidential election. Eastern Tennessee, said a Gore friend, is "more Republican than Maine or New Hampshire ever were."

When Gore came out in support of Kennedy over Long in the Senate whip contest, potential adversary Kuykendall recalled southern loyalties, saying:

"I feel that it is very unfortunate for the people of Tennessee that one of their representatives in the Senate would put his support behind a man who has never shown any concern for the problems and needs of our part of the country."

But there may be some gain for Gore in the Kennedy vote.

His support of the New Englander may bring him Kennedy help in next year's contest. There also has been an end to speculation that a Kennedy family friend in Nashville, John Jay Hooker Jr., might challenge Gore in a Democratic primary.

Beaver Countian Faces Trial In Fatal Hotel Fire

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (AP) — The trial of two men in connection with a hotel fire in Alamogordo Feb. 2 is scheduled to start today with the selection of a jury.

The two defendants, Leonard Pawlenko, 21, Long Island, N. Y., and Thomas L. Schallot, 22, New Brighton, Pa., will stand trial on reduced charges.

Assistant Dist. Atty. James Huber charged each of them with three counts of involuntary manslaughter, a reduction from the original charges of murder and criminal damage to property.

Appeals Court Judge Lafel Oman of Santa Fe had dismissed arson charges against the two earlier. He tossed out the charges on grounds that the law under which they were charged was unconstitutional.

The fire, in the Wilward Hotel, took the lives of Stanton Lewis, 56, Winfield A. Thomas 48; and Clarence Knecht, 84.

The trial has been scheduled to start Tuesday, but was postponed a day. Huber gave no reason for the postponement. Members of the jury panel gathered for the trial were told to return today.

The loon, an aquatic bird common to the fresh waters of northern America, is characterized by its fast dives into the water and sudden reappearances yards away. It is able to swim much faster under water than on the surface.

ANN LANDERS

Physician Corrects Ann

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: As a pediatrician I must take issue with your advice to the 11-year-old boy whose mother made him eat for lunch what he refused to eat for breakfast. You said it was a wonderful idea and you hoped other mothers would do the same.

Obesity is a major health problem today and your suggestion doesn't help any. Eating habits are acquired early and are difficult to change. Unfortunately, too many mothers feel it is a virtue to clean a plate and a sin to leave anything.

A great many people are in the habit of eating too much because their mothers made them feel guilty about leaving food.

The wise mother offers her children the right kinds of food and does not make an issue of how much or little he eats. A child will eat as much as he needs. If a youngster repeatedly leaves food, the servings should be reduced.

Your advice is usually excellent, Ann, but you let us down this time. — Anchorage, M.D.

Dear M.D.: You're right. I goofed when I applauded the mother for serving oatmeal for lunch when the kid threw the breakfast oatmeal down the clothes chute. (I didn't think he sould get away with it.)

Even so, the advice was poor because children shouldn't be made to eat food they dislike particularly as punishment. Shame on me! I'll take 10 whacks with Dr. B. Spock's book.

Pouting Father

Dear Ann: Our daughter and her fiance are planning a church wedding in June. The young man is a splendid person. They went together for 2½ years and are very much in love.

Problem: The father of the groom happens to be a clergyman. His son did not follow his faith but joined ours. Now the father refuses to attend the wedding because he believes it would be showing approval of his son's chosen church and he does not wish to do this.

The father has asked that there be no big wedding, that the couple slip off to another state and be married quietly. The young couple is deeply hurt by his attitude. Please express an opinion. — RSVP Negative.

Dear Neg.:The groom's father is out of tune with the times. Where's his ecumenical spirit?

These days when Methodists in Evanston invite their Jewish friends to church for a Passover-Easter supper, and nuns in Grand Rapids chant Hebrew music for a Bar Mitzvah, and the Knights of Columbus and the Masons have a joint meeting in South Bend, the groom's father is clearly out in left field.

Still Correct

Dear Ann: Have you flipped your lid? Recently a 14-year-old girl asked if it's possible to get pregnant if a girl keeps all her clothes on. You said Yes. You CAN'T mean it. Please explain. — ZONKED ZELLIC.

Dear Z: The girl's clothes need not come OFF. They can be unzipped, unhooked, unsnapped, loosened and rearranged. Get it?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

DON'T CONFUSE CANKERS WITH COLD SORES

Cold sores are on the outside of the lips and are caused by a virus. Canker sores are on the inside of the mouth and not on the gums.

The cause of canker sores is not definitely certain. A form of strep grem has been found in such ulcers. Some experts blame injury to the tissues, caused by a tooth brush or hard foods. Others blame them on an allergic reaction. If you are often troubled by canker sores consult a physician.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Infant's Weight At Birth, Life Span Studied

NEW DELHI (AP) — The relationship between the weight of an infant at birth and its life span will be the subject of intensive research here.

The United States government has made available 650,000 rupees ($87,000) for the research to be conducted at the All India Medical Institute.

The panel will study the case history both of prematurely born babies and those born after normal term of pregnancy. It will keep in touch with both such children and their mothers over a period of years.

The institute spokesman said the babies whose weights are low at birth are more susceptible to some ailments affecting the lungs and the circulatory system.

The study should also enable doctors to save babies who otherwise would be stillborn. The impact of family planning measures on the health of mothers and infants will also be studied.

They also watch a slide presentation of X-rays and operating room scenes.

Letter Couldn't Miss, Had Everything On It

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — While Wilbur Cashon, manager of the Ritz Hotel, was visiting in Italy he became friends with a family there.

Upon his return, he wrote a letter, on hotel stationery, and thanked the family for the kindness shown him.

New Mexico Senator Finds Frustration

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — State Sen. Alfonso Montoya found frustration in a recent session of the New Mexico Legislature.

The senate in the space of a minute adopted adverse committee reports killing six bills sponsored by the Democratic legislator.

New Mexico's senate rarely has killed six bills in one day, let alone six by one senator.

Montoya is the brother of U.S. Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M.

Tourists Are Confused By Pennyrile Region

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Tourists often are confused by the fact that one of the six geographical regions into which the state is divided is called the Pennyrile. How did it get that name?

Pennyrile is nothing but a colloquial spelling of pennyroyal, a tiny plant with strong minty, aromatic odor that grows profusely in the region stretching from the Cumberland River along the southern borders of Kentucky to about Tompkinsville.

A Junior Editors Quiz About DIESEL ENGINES

QUESTION: How do diesel engines work?

ANSWER: The ordinary engine in a car is of the spark-ignition type. Electric sparks inside the cylinders ignite the gas vapor which is drawn in. Explosions force the pistons down. The diesel engine does not have an electrical system to set off the fuel. Instead, it uses the principle that when air is suddenly compressed, its temperature will rise. Look at (1) in our cross section of the diesel engine. At upper right, a valve has opened, allowing air to rush in. In (2), as the piston moves up, this air is compressed, becoming as hot as 900 degrees. In (3), fuel from the fuel jet at left is injected and burns in an explosion as the hot air sets it afire. In (4) the piston, having been forced down, rises again. The valve at upper left has opened to allow the burned exhaust vapors to move out. Diesel engines use inexpensive fuel oil and give a greater return of mechanical energy produced for fuel consumed than can gasoline engines. That is why they are used for so many heavy duty jobs, such as moving trains and trucks and the heavy equipment used in building roads.

Singer Eddie Fisher Has Filed For Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Singer Eddie Fisher, charging "extreme cruelty," filed for divorce Tuesday from his third wife, pert blonde actress Connie Stevens.

Their marriage was first announced when Miss Stevens gave birth to a daughter, Joley, in 1967. But no marriage license was ever produced publicly. They told newsmen they had been "secretly married for some time."

Another daughter, Tricia, was born last December.

Fisher, 41, was divorced from actress Elizabeth Taylor in 1966. He was previously married to actress Debbie Reynolds.

3 Good Reasons to Save at Diversified:

5¾% interest paid on one year term certificates. A minimum deposit of $1000 is required, thereafter in increments of $1,000. When held for one year these certificates pay the area's highest rate — 5¾%.

5½% interest paid on investor's passbook savings. A minimum deposit of $500 is required. When held for one year this plan pays 5½% compounded quarterly and earned daily. Money may be withdrawn at any time and still earns 5¼%.

5¼% on regular passbook savings. Interest is compounded quarterly and earned daily. Which means you can deposit your money today, take it out tomorrow and still get one day's interest. Savings earn from the day of deposit, and withdrawals are penalized only for the amount of the withdrawal and for the number of days remaining in the quarter.

Mt. Union Gets $5,000 TRW Gift

MINERVA — A $5,000 contribution by TRW Metals Division has been made to the building fund of Mt. Union College in Alliance.

The gift from the TRW Foundation of Cleveland was presented to Mt. Union President Dr. Ronald G. Weber by Nelson G. Spoth, Vice President and General Manager of the Minerva-based company. Metals Division is an operating unit of TRW Inc., a diversified technology company specializing in products, systems and services for commercial, industrial and government markets.

Dr. Weber said the TRW gift will be used as part of Mt. Union's $3.5 million "total program of advance" which will provide new facilities, equipment and endowment opportunities at the college. Work on a new Physical Education building will get underway shortly, Dr. Weber said, and a new Life Science building is also in the college's growth plans.

The college's building fund currently stands at $3.1 million.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I remove stains caused by leather rubbing against a fabric?

A.—These are high on the list of "tough ones." However, if washable, try rubbing well with a thick soap-and-water solution. You might make matters easier, too, if glycerin is worked well into the stain beforehand and allowed to stand awhile before washing. For unwashable fabrics, try glycerine, working this into the stain carefully by rubbing lightly between the hands. Let remain awhile, then rinse by sponging with water.

Q.—How can I facilitate the washing of very greasy dishes?

Q.—Is there any home method of repairing a broken china figurine?

A.—Clear fingernail polish usually does a first-rate job of sticking the broken pieces together. And when the mended joints have dried, you can use nail-polish remover to clean off the excess polish that may have exuded from the repair.

Q.—How can I deal with rust marks on my stainless steel sink?

A.—By rubbing with ordinary lighter fluid. This removes the rust in jig time. Then after going over the sink with kitchen cleanser, it will be as bright and shining as when new.

Q.—How can I remove kerosene spots from fabrics?

A.—By scrubbing with turpentine or mineral spirits, then with warm water and soap.

Q.—How can I keep my new aluminum kitchen vessels bright and shining for a long time?

A.—By using a mild soap or detergent and water alone, and taking care not to burn any food in them. Rinse with scalding water and polish with a soft towel. Mild soap is recommended, because strongly alkaline soaps tends to dull the finish.

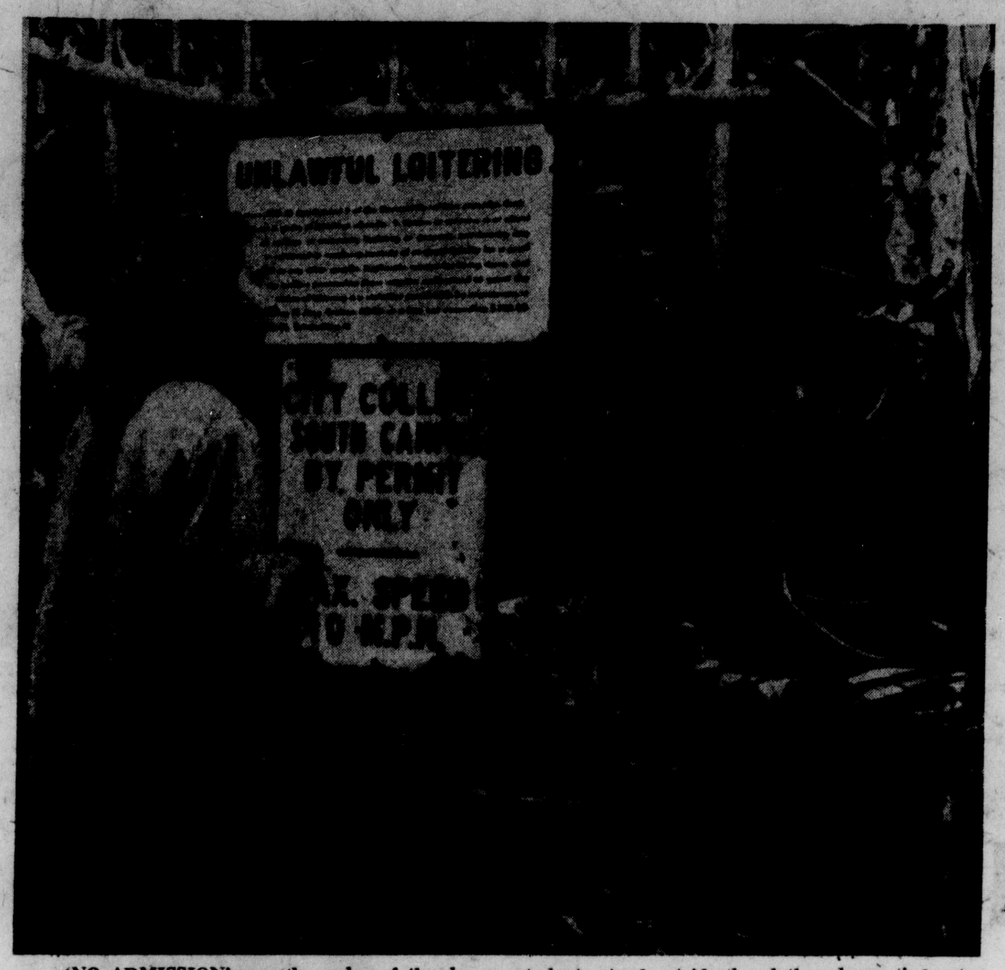
Blacks Keep New York College Shut



'NO ADMISSION' was the order of the day as students stood outside the cloth-and-rope-tied gates leading to the south campus of the City University of New York Tuesday. Black and Puerto Rican youth seeking to "open admission" policies closed the gates and refused to admit students and professors who arrived for classes. (UPI Telephoto)

By The Associated Press

City College of New York—the nation's largest tuition-free undergraduate college—remained closed today as minority group students barred whites from half the campus.

Militant blacks at Cornell University waited to see if the faculty would reconsider and drop charges stemming from an earlier demonstration, while protests continued at other campuses.

About 150 black and Puerto Rican students sealed four gates on City College's South Campus Tuesday. Several hours later, President Buell G. Gallagher canceled classes for the school's 20,000 students.

Police clipped chains the students had put on the gates, but the protesters stood shoulder-to-shoulder in a pouring rain and kept all whites outside. Three blocks away, about 200 white radicals began a sit-in in the administration building to support the blacks' demands for open enrollment for all high school graduates and a separate-but-not-autonomous school of black studies.

A City College spokesman said about 1,500 of the school's 12,000 day session enrollment is black or Puerto Rican. Another 3,000 attend night classes. The protesters contend the student body should reflect the city's high schools, which are about 52 per cent black and Puerto Rican.

At Cornell, in Ithaca, N.Y., a 16-member faculty council Tuesday night asked the entire faculty of 1,500 to meet today and accept the militants' demand to drop discipline against five blacks, which the faculty refused to do Monday night.

The faculty has final power in disciplinary matters.

About 245 sheriff's deputies from nearby counties remained near the campus, all armed with riot control equipment, at the request of Tompkins County Sheriff Robert L. Howard.

Leaders of Students for a Democratic Society drew 6,000 students to a rally and asked them to stage a sit-in to back the blacks' demands. Cornell has 14,000 students, 250 of them blacks.

Cornell President James A. Perkins banned guns from campus Tuesday, but made no move to pick up weapons, including the shotguns and rifles the blacks displayed after seizing the student union over the weekend.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., introduced a bill to provide imprisonment and fines for demonstrators who interfere with the operations of any school receiving federal funds.

Nine students announced in Washington that they would refuse to accept induction into the armed forces. They said more than 250 student body presidents and newspaper editors had

Nixon Seeks Funds For War On Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, proposing a $61 million war against organized crime, asked Congress today to make corruption of police and local officials and operation of large-scale illegal gambling rings federal offenses.

In a special message which said the leaders of the Cosa Nostra "are more firmly entrenched and more secure than ever before," Nixon said his administration is studying the potential use of antitrust laws to cripple syndicate-owned operation of legitimate businesses financed by illicit revenues.

Nixon also said he wants the crime-fighting budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 to be increased by $25 million to a record $61 million.

That would finance hiring more sleuths and help staff "strike forces" being set up in 20 cities to coordinate activities of all federal agencies engaged in the investigation of organized crime and racketeering.

At least a dozen more cities will be added to the list within two years, he said.

Nixon also proposed the annual federal tax on gamblers be increased from $50 to $1,000.

And in another request for legislation, he proposed "a new broad general witness immunity law." He said that, under this, a witness granted immunity could not be prosecuted on the basis of his testimony but would not be immune from prosecution based on other evidence.

Should the witness refuse to testify, he would be liable to a prison sentence for contempt.

Perhaps the most striking idea Nixon outlined was possible application of the antitrust laws, or new statutes incorporating their theories, to crack down on syndicate-controlled business enterprises.

Arab, Israel Fire Erupts Near Jordan

Terrorist Incidents Reported As Israel Marks Anniversary

JERUSALEM (AP) — Arabs and Israelis exchanged fire again today along the Jordanian border near the Israeli frontier city of Beit Shean, and there were reports of at least two terrorist incidents as Israel continued to celebrate the 21st anniversary of its independence.

An Israeli army spokesman said Arab rocket fire burst near Beit Shean, four miles from the Jordanian border, and that the fire was returned. He gave no other details.

Three Arabs were wounded in occupied Gaza City when a small package of explosives blew up in a movie house. Authorities said no movie was showing at the time and the Arabs were held for questioning. A grenade also was hurled at a police jeep in the tense city and troops searched for the attacker.

Independence celebrations continued, but police were everywhere and the cities were ringed by roadblocks. Citizens were warned to be on the alert for terrorist attacks.

Israel's independence was proclaimed May 14, 1948, but the anniversary falls on April 23 this year, according to the Hebrew lunar calendar.

Israeli diplomats said today the cease-fire along the Suez Canal has not broken down despite Secretary-General U Thant's warning that a "virtual state of active war" exists in the area.

The diplomats said Thant had failed to take into consideration reports from U.N. military observers that Egypt had initiated most of the recent fighting along the 103-mile waterway. They claimed that Cairo is attempting to create a war scare in order to pressure the Big Four powers in to a pro-Arab

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced the loss of six helicopters, including a fiery midair collision that killed 16 American and South Vietnamese soldiers and left no survivors.

The other crashes killed three Americans and injured three U.S. soldiers and 20 South Vietnamese.

The collision occurred about 1 a.m. today 35 miles north of Saigon between two U.S. Army choppers carrying South Vietnamese infantrymen on a night assault. Eight American crewmen and eight South Vietnamese soldiers were killed when the helicopters plunged to the ground in flames.

U.S. headquarters said the cause of the crash is being investigated.

Three Lost In 8 Hours

Three other helicopters were lost to enemy fire within an eight-hour period Tuesday two miles below the eastern flank of the demilitarized zone.

First a big U.S. Marine CH46 helicopter landing South Vietnamese infantrymen on a hilltop crashed, apparently hit an enemy land mine and exploded. Two American crewmen were killed and three crewmen and 14 South Vietnamese infantrymen were wounded.

All the dead and wounded were lifted out by another helicopter except a South Vietnamese company commander and his radio operator, who apparently were overlooked. A smaller helicopter that came to pick them up 4½ hours later also hit a mine while landing. One U.S. crewman was killed and three South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded.

Ground Fire Downs One

A third helicopter from the 101st Airborne Division came in to help, and ground fire from the slopes of the same hill brought it down. There were no American casualties, but three South Vietnamese troops were wounded.

Another helicopter managed to lift out the survivors and the dead, field reports said.

The sixth helicopter lost, a light observation craft, was hit by enemy ground fire and crashed while on a reconnaissance mission 60 miles west of Saigon. It was destroyed but nobody was hurt.

The losses raised to 2,549 the number of American helicopters lost in the Vietnam war.

Elsewhere, the U.S. Command reported allied forces backed by helicopter gunships and bombers killed 55 North Vietnamese soldiers in the past 24 hours in the central highlands, 180 miles north of Saigon. There were no allied casualties, it said.

Military sources reported that the only three North Vietnamese battalions threatening Saigon from the south and west —more than 1,000 men—have pulled back into the marshy Plain of Reeds or across the Cambodian border.

Viet Cong units in the upper Mekong Delta also are breaking up into platoons and squads the sources said.

This tied in with reports that

Ousted Deputies Act

New actions were filed with the West Virginia Supreme Court at Charleston Tuesday in the Hancock County sheriff's race which has been in litigation for months.

Sixteen who were appointed deputy sheriffs by Democrat Lou Smoleski only to be ousted by the County Court after Republican Ralph Patrick took over in February asked the Supreme Court to declare the office of sheriff vacant on the ground that Patrick failed to post a valid bond within 60 days after he was declared elected, as required by law.

In a second move, Smoleski asked the state court to cite Hancock County Court members and Patrick for contempt.

THE OUSTED deputies' petition said that under West Virginia statutes and the state constitution, deputies may be removed from office only by the sheriff who appointed them unless "good cause" is shown.

In this case, the petition said, " 'good cause' . . . does not and did not exist."

On the question of Patrick's bond, Smoleski's lawyers said that the county court on Feb. 10 accepted a bond in the amount of $80,000, but that a statement on the face of the bond document said "not valid if filled in for more than $50,000."

The petition said the purported bond, "being invalid on its face, is in effect no bond at all."

In the contempt petition, Smoleski's counsel said the county court, "allegedly completing on April 18" the election contest hearing, made no change from its previous rulings on any ballots.

THE PETITION said, however, that the county court failed to comply with the Supreme Court mandate. For one thing, he ((County Court) commisioners" arbitrarily decided in advance of the proceeding that they would not change any recount rulings on ballots.

Smoleski alleged also that the County Court refused to subpoe-

Rain, Cool Weather Due To Hang Around

The rain and cool weather will continue at least through Thursday.

Stamp Hike Bid Labeled As 'Scheme'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee says President Nixon's proposed one cent hike in first class mail rates is a scheme "to get the administration out of a budget bind."

"As I understand it," Sen. Gale W. McGee said in an interview, revenue from the boost from 6 to 7 cents "will not necessarily improve mail service at all. It will go largely to pay for capital improvements which should be financed by the government's general revenues."

However, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he agrees with the administration that the hike, included in a $611-million postal rate increase proposal, is necessary.

Dirksen said if McGee's committee doesn't approve the bill, he might attach it as a rider to some unrelated legislation.

When the bill is filed and when administration plans for revision of postal operations are clearer, McGee said, he'll hold hearings on the request.

McGee also said he was disappointed in Postmaster Gen. Winton M. Blount's testimony Monday before the Senate appropriations subcommittee on the Post Office's budget requests.

"We have heard lots of statements from the new administration about how it was going to institute business practices in the Postoffice Department," he said.

First Total Human Eye Transplant Is Performed

John Madden, 54, received the eye from the body of O. B. Hickman, 55, of Houston, who had died 24 hours earlier of a brain tumor.

Dr. Conard D. Moore, who performed the transplant, said Tuesday Madden, owner of a photography studio at Conroe, Tex., was in excellent condition. Moore added it was too early to tell whether the patient would be able to see with the eye.

"The operation is simple but the problem is keeping the optic nerve cells alive," said Moore.

"Even with a perfected procedure it could be used only with the loss of a whole eye, such as in an accident," he said. "The type case we had here might happen once in a thousand times."

Madden lost his right eye two weeks ago when a corneal transplant was unsuccessful because of bleeding. He was still hospitalized when the donor eye became available.

Despite loss of the eye, Moore said, it was found that the nerve essential to vision had not been destroyed. This led to the transplant in which the nerves of the donor eye were connected surgically with the Madden's optic nerves.

"We now just have to wait and see what happens," Moore said. "We are hopeful the nerves will unite. But even if the vision doesn't work he will have a normal looking eye."

Moore said the Madden's eyelids would remain sewn together for about three weeks before it could be determined whether he had vision in the eye.

Paul's Kidney Works After New Surgery

Physicians had good news Tuesday night for the family of Paul McCraw, 9-year-old East End boy who received a kidney transplant from a Beaver County girl April 3.

Following a 2-hour operation yesterday in which a leak was found in the tube leading to the new kidney, surgeons said the kidney is functioning as planned.

The 28-pound youngster had been in severe pain in the past 10 days, and doctors decided to tap his stomach where the new kidney was inserted after his two diseased kidneys were removed.

Urine was found in the stomach area, indicating the kidney was functioning but with an apparent leak in the tube con-

Vocational Courses Set

The vocational machine trades and electrical trades courses for East Liverpool High School have been approved by the Ohio Department of Education Trades and Industrial Department, Supt. Paul Blair announced Tuesday.

Blair said confirmation of the approval was received from Harry F. Davis, state supervisor of the trades and industrial department. The classes will be incorporated into the curriculum in September.

The board of education earmarked some $110,000 in its budget for equipment and will now apply to the State Department of Education for matching funds.

Blair said the business office education program also has been approved.

With the addition of the above, the vocational education courses for the 1967-70 school year will include auto mechanics, first and second year; industrial drafting, first and second year; vocational home economics; occupational work experience; distributive education; machine trades; electrical trades, and business office education.

In 1970-71, a second year of machine and electrical trades will be added.

Senate GOP Bill Slashes Shafer Fund

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer, still busy telling the people of Pennsylvania the good side of his record $2.52 billion budget proposal at "town meetings," can add the Senate Republican caucus to his list of detractors.

A clear majority of the GOP caucus — 16 of the 27 members — introduced the principal bill of a counter - budget Tuesday which cuts to shreds most of the governor's pet programs and would throw out a proposed 10 per cent pay increase for state employes. It also would avert the need for a state personal income tax.

Gone under the bill submitted by Sen. D. Elmer Hawbaker of Franklin County and Senate Appropriations Chairman George N. Wade of Cumberland County would be some $40 million asked by Shafer for industrial development. Also missing would be all but $1.8 million of $69 million requested for the Community Affairs Department for ghetto development, housing and community services.

Another $60 million of the Shafer proposal would be slashed by turning the state scholarship program into a loan program.

Several of the co-sponsors of Tuesday's counter - budget bill also signed a proposal to abolish the scholarship grant system and fund the loan program with state employe and teachers' retirement systems.

The Golden Door

Another argument for technical-vocational education as urged by Gov. James A. Rhodes can be found in a recent report of the Labor Department.

Despite all the talking and the research being devoted to finding jobs for our large number of unemployed, it still is necessary to look to the foreign labor markets to fill gaps in the nation's work force.

The reason — they can't be filled by Americans. We do not have enough workers with the required skills.

The Labor Department reports that last year 141,820 foreign workers, 22 per cent more than in the previous year were admitted to the United States to take jobs that could not have been filled otherwise.

For the immigrants, the golden door to opportunity in the United States is not closed because they have the desired training and skills. But for many native Americans, these doors are closed because they lack that necessary training and the skills which are in demand.

Until the quantity and quality of education in Ohio and the nation are such that the opportunity to be trained for productive jobs is available to all, joblessness will be chronic — an individual tragedy and a national problem.

Festival Assistance

The first year successes of the Tri-State Pottery Festival by volunteers on a practically zero budget proved a surprise to the workers, the community and festival "experts" who evaluated the event.

This year's capable staff is out to top the 1968 venture with the benefit of some experience, a bit of a balance in the black and some ambitious plans for a better show.

Among last year's favorable comments were, "If there's anything I can do to help. . ." Assistance is still needed, and anyone wishing to devote time and talent to aiding in the festival can notify the chairman, Jack Hales, or telephone 385-4854.

Continuing support of residents of East Liverpool, Chester, Newell, Wellsville and Midland areas is vital to this popular fete, and no one can overlook the fun involved for visitors and participants alike.

Plight Of The Elderly

The Senate Committee on the Aging will open a two-day hearing next week to call new attention to the plight of the nation's elderly in a time of heavy inflation.

The committee concluded in a recent report that the best — and perhaps only — way to reduce poverty among old people is to transfer more wealth from wage earners to the retired population through Social Security.

Pressure for large Social Security hikes is bound to bring cries from American taxpayers.

Under existing legislation, Social Security taxes will go up gradually from the present 9.6 per cent (shared by employe and employer) on the first $7,800 of yearly earnings, to 11.8 per cent in 1987.

The committee already has disclosed that elderly people account for 20 per cent of the nation's poverty but only 10 per cent of its population.

New ammunition for the committee is found in a study by the Columbia University Bureau of Applied Research. For those in retiremnt, it found, the standard of living declines as rapidly as life expectancy increases.

The survey drew the conclusion that people planning to retire can expect "to go broke."

Beauty And The Billboards

Trying to beautify America isn't always easy. Take the battle of the billboards for instance.

The federal government, in its desire to have more sightly highways, pays a bonus to states that ban billboards along the interstate freeways.

To close the resulting information gap which occurs when the billboards are removed, one of these states, Iowa, opened two "Infosites" along Interstate 80 near Iowa City.

The Infosites are large buildings adjacent to rest areas and are well-lighted, heated and air conditioned. They also feature numerous panels for advertising.

It was thought that advertisers would welcome the opportunity to advertise in such attractive quarters and the travelers would flock to the Infosites for information.

But not so. Only 20 per cent of the available space in the Infosites was sold. And the advertisers — they simply moved back beyond the legal limit from the highway and put up much larger billboards.

To add insult to injury then, between 80 and 90 per cent of some 4,000 travelers queried said they got all the information they needed from the new billboards.

It would seem the well-rodered, unclattered society is not everyone's cup of tea.

Safer Highways

A recent report compiled by the Federal Highway Administration's bureau of public roads reveals that travel on the nation's interstate highways is safer than travel on other roads and streets.

Despite rumors and statements to the contrary, the report indicates the superroads have the best safety records.

Statistics reveal that during 1967 2.89 persons were killed for each 100 million vehicle miles of travel on the interstate highways as compared with 5.66 on other roads.

Although it hardly seems possible, due to the great daily traffic toll in the nation, the report's figures show the death rate on all highways during 1967 was below the rate for 1966 and that the interstate fatality rate dropped off even more.

Ever better superhighways make driving both easier and safer as a comparison of the older Pennsylvania Turnpike with the more modern Ohio Turnpike makes very clear.

Highway designers, in improving the state of their art, are helping to make it safer for all of us when we venture forth onto the nation's highways.

Letters To The Editor

Within the next week, work will begin on removing the concrete loading docks at the Chester Primary School. This will be a joint venture of the Board of Education, Mayor, City Council and the City Park Board.

Tennis courts, volleyball, basketball and a play area will be erected on the various school properties. Plans are being made for a work day to clean the debris from the Central School lot. The City will then cover it with clean fill dirt and a play area will be made. The Board of Education have also granted us permission to use the Junior High Gym this winter for a recreation program for all ages. We will need help and supervision to do this. Ice Skating, basketball, etc. are planned for Chester City Park.

We need volunteers to help even if the first work done might not take place in the area where thy live? We are asking all citizens old and young to be in on the planning for what is needed in Chester. We want to benefit all ages, clubs, Little Leagues, etc. and if someone's pet project or interest wouldn't get first priority or be done the way they want it, please don't pick up the marbles (in this case money and talent) and go home. For once, let's cooperate as a people who are interested in the welfare of the whole town.

Now to you parents, youngsters and young people who will be using these new facilities, may I say this. Much money, time and effort will go into this. Won't you parents stress to your children the need to respect and take care of this equipment and property? To you young people, we need your help in all ways to get the equipment erected, painted, etc. The park, playgrounds and schools are your property and you as taxpayers are the losers when there is vandalism.

I hope everyone appreciates the work that is going into this. First thanks go to the W. Va. University Extension Committee who got the ball rolling by putting us in contact with Mr. Anthony Torchio, an expert on recreation in Weirton. Mr. Torchio has been our sparkplug and cheerleader so to speak, and he set up the meeting with Mr. George Grodhaus, W. Va. Dept. of Commerce, who has promised to help us all along the way.

Thanks also goes to Dr. Vernon Wyland, Supt. of Hancock County Schools, Mr. Paul Cone, Coordinator of Physical Plant and Grounds, and Mr. John Kuzio, Coordinator of the Physical Education Program. These men have helped with the school properties.

We need to thank Mayor Ash and Council who have worked to get help and materials and to the Park Board for pulling all groups together. We are asking all civic clubs, social clubs, PTA's etc. to put their resources and help together for this program.

As Mr. Grodhaus said "An Ogelbay it won't be, but it will suit the needs of Chester." And to quote Mr. Torchio, "Isn't it better to spend money on wholesome recreation than to pay for vandalism and extra police."

Come on Chester, let's exchange our apathy for some enthusiasm!

Thanks Expressed

The Area Red Cross Chapter on behalf of the Albert Dailey family of parents and six children wishes to express its gratitude for the overwhelming response from the many citizens of this area — even as far as Lisbon — who helped to re-establish this family which lost its entire possessions and belongings in a house fire recently. Much more was offered than could be used. They are grateful.

Special thanks also to a local couple and employees of the D. M. Ogilvie Company for a generous cash contribution, the Salvation Army, a furniture store, and the many individuals.

Teamsters Forgot To 'Duck'

WASHINGTON — And so it came about that some migratory waterfowl are not sitting ducks for some dollar-minded Teamsters whose concept of wildlife differs considerably from that of the united nature lovers of the land.

Victor Riesel

Despite considerable logistic support from the Army Corps of Engineers, influential senators, and high Department of Interior officials of the past administration, the Teamsters Brotherhood lost an almost decade-long battle to flocks of wild ducks.

This frustrated a land development scheme which would have paralayed a $15,300 investment in Potomac marshland into a $1.3 million kill. Not bad, even for the Teamsters, who never sleep when they sniff a profitable real estate deal—be it in the Nevada desert or underwater Virginia soil.

This saga of lobbying in the Pentagon, pressuring and even threatening congressmen, and attempting to bully dedicated professionals of the Department of Interior, began in the early '60s when an official of the notorious Chicago-based Central States Teamsters Pension Fund purchased some nine acres of marshland on the Virginia side of the river edge.

THE PROMOTION SCHEME was simple—get a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers, which as the authority to grant permission for landfills. That permit alone would rocket the land value of the swamp to $1.3 million. Then the plan called for hooking in with construction people to build a posh high-rise apartment.

But the teamsters did not count on the ducks.

Neither did the Army Corps of Engineers, which was quite willing to grant the permit to those friendly Teamsters. Under the law, the Corps must first get clearance from agencies of the Department of Interior—which meant convincing the devoted conservationists who head the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife and the National Park Service that pouring rubble into the marshland would be a social boon to the district and its environs.

The nine acres which the Teamsters wanted to fill in are part of a sanctuary for the ducks who find the marshaland one of the few watering spots of its kind on the Eastern "flyway." The migratory fowl come down and winter here. The Teamsters project would have left them homeless and would have deprived metropolitan nature lovers of some relaxed hours of watching the birds. So the heads of the two Interior Dept. agencies, in 1967, advised the Army Corps against issuing the juicy permit. The permit was turned down, but this didn't discourage the Teamsters.

IT PLEASED a congressional friend of mine, John Saylor, Republican of Pennsylvania's 22nd District. He's on the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, the National Forest Reservation Commission and the Public Land Law Review Commission.

So he has fought through the past few years to save the ducks and their wintering place. But the Teamsters are not lacking in techniques. They think they how how to handle congrsssmen. One particular technique was developed by the late Sidney Zagri, Jimmy Hoffa's political trowel carrier. Mr. Zagri, knowing he could not "convince" Mr. Saylor in any other way, marched into his office a few years back and told him to "keep your nose out of this affair."

The or-else implication is obvious. The late Mr. Zagri often boasted he could make or break or buy congressmen. John Saylor told him to get out. The congressman said he'd keep his nose in any business involving the U.S. and his committee. This came after Sidney Zagri had observed that the congressman was from a steel and coal city. Mr. Zagri got out.

But the Teamsters pressure for the permit continued. Senators were called. In turn, subcabinet-level heads of the Interior Dept. were pressured. In mid-'68, Undersecretary David Black and his highly placed departmental colleague Stanley Cain overruled their own fisheries and forest service agency professionals. The Interior Dept. gave its clearance. The permit, weighted with real estate gold, was approved by the Army Corps of Engineers—but no land was filled.

REP. SAYLOR got mad. He rounded up some congressmen on the Government Operations Committee and they held a hearing. It was all very indecisive because it was all too hurried in that hectic year.

Some weeks ago, Mr. Saylor returned to battle. He got the Government Operations Committee together again. One of the Interior Dept. executives. Stanley Cain, who along with Mr. Black had overruled his own professionals, admitted that his decision was based on "political considerations." Then the House committee made a decision-unanimously. They condemned the permit, the project, the Army Corps of Engineers, the Department of Interior officials and the whole affair.

"Two weeks ago, I called the new Secretary of Interior, Walter Hickel," says John Saylor, "and I told him that I filed this report. Hickel took it up with his professional people—some of the same men who had denounced the granting of the permit—and he withdrew the permit which was forwarded last year."

Legally, the Army Corps of Engineers still has the right to issue the elusive permit

Mr. Saylor tells me "the Teamsters landfill project is dead" But what if the Teamsters give it an artificial transplant?

"Sure, the Army Corps still has the right," snorts Saylor, "but heaven help them if they do."

And Mr. Saylor means it. That will teach the Teamsters to pick on ducks—or some congressmen.

Perilous Handcuffs

WASHINGTON — Within the last few days, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has issued a report, approved by a vote of 11 to 1, recommending the Senate adopt a resolution which, if put into effect, could paralyze the operation of foreign policy by the president of the United States.

America's ambassadors and ministers would hardly be able to carry on useful conversations or negotiations with foreign governments without first submitting virtually everything of significance for approval by a committee of Congress.

The alleged purpose would be to determine weather a "commitment" was being made by the United States—involving financial, military or other forms of co-operation between this and other countries.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in its report of April 16, includes a summary of the objections to the resolution as submitted by the Johnson and Nixon administrations. The latest memorandum of opposition was submitted to the committee by the State Department on March 10 It declares that a congressional resolution "could not change the constitutional powers of the president," and that the Constitution gives the president "the power to enter into many agreements and to initiate many actions that can be considered to be commitments to other countries."

The foreign relations committees of both houses are constantly consulted when critical situations arise. But, as Under Secretary of State Katzenbach in 1967 said in a congressional hearing, this does not mean that the Congress "should seek to substitute itself for the president or even to share in those decisions which are his to make." Incidentally, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee says in its report that the resolution is not intended to cover commitments already made and is concerned solely with the future.

IT MAY WELL be wondered whether, if the president of the United States feels it is necessary to push a button to order the firing of missiles to deter a nuclear attack, he must first ask a Senate committee for approval. The rebuttal made by members of the committee is that the president has the power of defense "against sudden armed agression." But there are many possible steps necessary from time to time to thwart potential aggression, and these can require mutual-defense pledges to be made informally.

It is strange that only one member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee—Sen. Gale McGee, Democrat of Wyoming — differed with the proponents of the committee's resolution. He says in part in the minority report:

"As a great power, American actions cause reverberations all around the globe and must, therefore, be carefully weighed and delicately executed. Not infrequently they must be carried out swiftly. The decision-making process may be reduced by events to a matter of a single day, or even hours. On more than one occasion the time allotted by crisis incidents to those who must make the decisions has been less than the time it would take to assemble a quorum of the Congress.

"Possibly an even greater factor which presses for increasing the power of the president in making foreign policy in recent decades has been the advent of the nuclear age. We live in a time when 15 minutes could spell the difference between life and death for millions of people—possibly even for life itself on earth. . . .

"THE PRESIDENT alone under the Constitution has authority to recognize foreign governments and to enter into commitments which implement that recognition. In the conduct of the foreign relations of the United States, the president necessarily must have the power to make many commitments to foreign governments. . . .

"At best, the Senate resolution has only the capabilities of mischief-making with the responsibilities of the president of the United States in foreign affairs, particularly in times like the present."

Sen. McGee says it is difficult to believe that "the press, or students of constitutional principles for that matter, would permit Senate resolution 85 to go by unnoticed." He adds that friends and foes abroad will hardly accept the interpretations by members of the committee that the proposed resolution isn't going to affect seriously the conduct of American foreign policy.

Hal Dips Into Mail Bag

By HAL BOYLE

The chances are one out of 10 that you will be hospitalized sometime during this year.

A chief reason that agricultural experts fear the population explosion will create a worldwide food shortage is this: Only about three per cent of the earth's land surface is suitable for the production of crops.

The accent isn't on youth when it comes to highway safety—it's on age. A 31-state survey by the University of Denver's Law College found that car owners over 65 were involved in only 4.8 per cent of all accidents although those in this age bracket make up 7.4 per cent of the nation's drivers.

The accent is on youth, however, when it comes to auto thefts. In 1969 they are expected for the first time to pass the million mark, and most of them will be stolen by lads too young to vote.

Children often pay the penalty for alcoholism in their parents. An Austrian study found that 72 per cent of the offspring of alcoholic parents suffered detectable mental or physical damage.

What is the world's fastest winged creature? Ornithologists believe it is the duck hawk, which can achieve a speed of up to 180 miles an hour when diving on its prey.

Quotable notables: "It is not so important to be serious as it is to be serious about the important things. The monkey wears an expression of seriousness which would do credit to any college students, but the monkey is serious because he itches." —Robert Hutchins.

Delivering letters is one of the oldest government services. As long ago as 500 B.C., Darius the Great operated a postal system thoughout Persia. In America, the first postage stamps didn't go on sale until July 1, 1847.

Doctors are worrying about drugs that hurt instead of help. A survey by two physicians in Northern Ireland of 1,160 patients found that 10.2 suffered adverse reactions from drug therapy. However, only a few of the reactions were of a life-threatening nature.

It was Kin Hubbard who observed, "Some men are born great, some achieve greatness, and others just keep still."

Booth Signups Continue For '69 Pottery Festival

Twenty - one booth sponsors have been registered so far for the "mall" of the second annual Tri-State Pottery Festival June 19-21, it was announced at a meeting of the festival committee Tuesday night.

Mark Templin, chairman of the Jaycee-sponsored "mall," said Heck's Amusements will again provide the rides for the event.

Booths can be obtained by area organizations at $20 for a 10-foot front, Templin said. Registration arrangements can be made with Templin at 385-4850.

Theme for the festival this year is "Progress and Tradition," submitted in a special contest by Miss Elizabeth Creese of Wellsville who will be awarded a $25 cash prize. Her entry was selected from more than 20 in the recent competition.

Entries are being received for "Pottery Queen" candidates from area girls 17 to 20 who are related to a pottery employe. Entries may be sent to "Pottery Queen" in care of the East Liverpool Review.

Arrangements are being made for window displays in downtown stores and businesses during the festival. Anyone with items to display may notify Mrs. William Horger of 1100 Ohio Ave.

Advertising for the festival souvenir program is expected to exceed the 1968 program, and anyone interested in purchasing ads may notify Mrs. Helen Moore or Mrs. Jerry Reed at Ogilvie's Department Store.

Further discussion was held on plans for a rose show, art display, entertainment, prizes and promotion.

John Hales, general chairman, presided at the meeting at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. offices. H. J. English, president, was in charge of a meeting of the directors at which the 1969 budget was aired.

Ex-W.Va. Cab Driver Indicted For Kidnap

Franklin M. King, 27, was indicted for allegedly kidnaping Jerald T. Sharp, 37, and forcing him to drive King into Ohio following a Feb. 4 daytime robbery at a Huntington tavern where Sharp was a patron.

Sharp, along with a woman and her son, were found bound and gagged in a rural Gallia County (Ohio) home several hours later. King surrendered to authorities in Oakland, Md., the next day.

King pleaded guilty to armed robbery and malicious shooting charges March 17 in Huntington and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Transit Strike Postponed Week In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A threatened transit strike which would have crippled some 185,000 Pittsburgh area commuters has been postponed for at least a week.

Nearly 1,000 members voted Tuesday to authorize union officials to strike next Tuesday at midnight if the Port Transit Authority board does not withdraw an appeal of an arbitration ruling bringing 120 supervisors under union jurisdiction.

The vote to strike eliminated an immediate strike threat. It was taken behind closed doors at a general membership meeting of District 85, the Amalgamated Transit Union.

Gilbert Teitel, business manager of the 2,300 member union, said after the meeting the workers wanted to strike now.

"I had to hold them back," he said.

But Teitel and Wilbert B. Morris, president, said they promised the Allegheny County Commissioners they would urge the members to give the authority another week to reconsider their appeal, scheduled for Wednesday April 30.

Teitel said the union "cannot and will not negotiate the issue."

1,000 Pa. Welfare Workers Ask 15% Pay Hike At Capital

HARRISBURG (AP)—Nearly 1,000 welfare workers demonstrated at the State Capitol Tuesday for a 15 per cent wage hike and other benefits but were upstaged by a high school choir from Pittsburgh.

Most of the demonstrators were bused to the Capitol steps from Pittsburgh and Philadelphia shortly after noon and within an hour upwards of 200 moved into the House chamber.

They filled visitors' seats in the balcony and the rear of the House floor, chanting "We want a raise."

Speaker Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia and K. Leroy Irvis, D-Allegheny, the majority leader, tried to quiet them in vain.

At this point, members of the Pittsburgh Westinghouse High School choir, who had been invited long before the demonstration was planned, filed into the chamber.

The choir began harmonizing and the crowd quieted and listened to the concert.

Irvis, who said he sympathizes with the workers, cautioned that their behavior could only hurt their cause and said the House would "not be intimidated by you or any others."

Minority Leader Lee A. Donaldson Jr., R-Allegheny, said the GOP side would "sustain the speaker and the majority leader so that we can proceed with the orderly business of this House."

A handful of demonstrators also appeared in the Senate, but there was no disruption. Seats in the Senate gallery had been preempted for the most part by a high school group before the demonstrators sought admittance.

The demonstrators included caseworkers and clerical workers who repeated requests made several times in the past and led to a walkout in Pittsburgh last month.

They listed 17 demands that ranged from the 15 per cent pay hike to better health and retirement programs.

A spokesman for Gov. Shafer noted the governor already is on record for a 10 per cent pay increase for all state employes.

He added: "The governor feels they should be directing their demonstration against the legislature in this area. As for the other demands, there is no way under state law that these people can bargain collectively."

Most of the demonstrators began leaving for home about three hours after they arrived.

Although many carried signs and chanted, there was no report of violence.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Brewing Tea In The Sun

DEAR HELOISE: Just what is sun tea and how do you make it?

MRS. T. T.

Heloise

I have used this for years, luv. I take loose tea and put some in the bottom of a clean fruit jar

Fill the jar with hot water from the tap and cap the lid tightly.

Set this any place where the sun shines upon it: In a window or outside. I turn the jar over twice a day.

When it gets strong enough (in a day or so) you will know because of the color and how much tea you put in the jar.

This may seem like a slow way of brewing tea, but it sure does taste different. It may be diluted with cold water ANYTIME. I learned this from the Hawaiians when I lived there.

And a great savings which has NOT been denied by any florist is to pour all leftover tea leaves in water, let set overnight, and use on plants!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Blessings on the apple . . . without it we'd have no vinegar, and where would we go from there???

MRS. F. COLE.

DEAR HELOISE: When you are sewing up a storm and need extra room for your sewing box, patterns, and all of that extra junk we accumulate:

Whiz-bang! Open up one or two TV snack tables. After all, most of us sew on the kitchen table. It sure gives lots of extra room and when suppertime comes along, those tables can be moved into a corner of the kitchen and you can continue the next day in case you don't finish.

MRS. ODA.

DEAR HELOISE: When changing the paper in our kitchen drawers, I didn't have any scissors handy, so I just tore the paper off along the edge of the pulled-out drawer. The paper tore off nice and smooth and I was delighted that I had found a new way to cut it evenly without having to run to another part of the house for scissors.

MRS. B. D.

DEAR HELOISE: As always, you have inspired me to do some thinking and I made a wonderful discovery today.

For a long time, I have wanted to light the display shelves of my china cupboard (or breakfront as they are sometimes called).

Tonight I got out a string of tiny Christmas tree lights and found that they just fit inside the glass door frame of my china cupboard.

I attached this small string of lights with cellophane tape so as not to mark the wood.

DELORES DICKINSON.

Don't ever use brads or a staple gun on any kind of electrical wires, gals. It's dangerous. Either use tape or cup hooks or special brads made for this purpose. Lights should NEVER touch the wood but should hang free.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: So many dresses have back zippers now, and I was always snagging my hose when stepping into a dress.

Then I discovered that if I turn the dress around so that the zipper is in front when I step into it, I can avoid any snags.

CLARA FLASDICK.

DEAR HELOISE: After you have used about half a loaf of bread (the kind with a pony tail closing), cut off the extra end of the wrapper. Makes removing the remaining slices much easier.

3 City Officials Seek State Aid

Mayor George Willshaw, Robert Vodrey, saefty - service director and City Engineer George Bloomgren were in Columbus today seeikng some $770,000 in Ohio highway funds for three projects in East Liverpool.

Last week the three conferred at Columbus with area legislators about the possibility of state funds for repair of Shadyside Ave., extension of the Lake-to-River Freeway through the East End and surfacing of Maine Blvd.

The Ohio Department of Highways, however, will administer the funds received from a bond issue approved in November. The three returned to Columbus today in an attempt to learn if East Liverpool can receive a share of the monies.

It has been estimated the Freeway extension will cost about $400,000, the Maine Blvd. project around $100,000, and the Shadyside Ave. work the remainder. The Shadyside project is a joint venture with Columbiana County commissioners.

First taxicabs in the United States made their appearance one night in 1907.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the outcast Teamsters and Auto Workers unions begin contributing dues next month to a labor alliance which the AFL-CIO calls a planned rival to the giant federation.

The two unions are shooting for a yearly budget of $4.3 million for their nationwide Alliance for Labor Action. Each of the two million Teamsters and 1.6 million members of the UAW will be assessed 10 cents a month.

Teamsters official Weldon L. Mathis said in an interview that the new alliance at first will try to organize workers in low-paying jobs in service industries, hospitals and some chemical firms. Planned are such social action programs as low-cost housing and job training for the hard-core unemployed, he added.

The AFL-CIO executive council said recently that the two unions had been raiding the federation's membership. Not true, said Mathis.

In a statement, the AFL-CIO said," it is apparent that the purpose of this (alliance) is formation of a dual organization rival to the AFL-CIO."

Federation president, George Meany, has also threatened to expel any of his 122 unions that join the alliance.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., has payed his first call on President Nixon. Is he at peace with the Nixon administration? he was asked by newsmen.

"I think as much as with the Johnson administration," he chuckled.

McCarthy said he and Nixon Tuesday had a general discussion on such matters as taxes, Vietnam and campus unrest.

The senator said Nixon did not say anything about Vietnam that he has not already said publicly. McCarthy said he thought it was good there seems to have been "some movement toward a coalition government, a fusion government of some sort" in Vietnam.

McCarthy said he agrees that students and faculty should have more responsibility on campuses, but did not know if Nixon felt the same way.

McCarthy reaffirmed his announced decision not to stand again for his seat. "That's still my position. I haven't changed," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP)— A second round of talks in Peru's seizure of an American oil company is in store with the expected arrival Friday of a Peruvian mission.

President Nixon has delayed economic sanctions called for by law, hoping more time may produce a settlement.

Peru seized $120 million in facilities of a Standard Oil of New Jersey subsidiary last October. The ruling junta has payed nothing, contending instead that the company owes Peru $690 million in back taxes.

Pennsylvania GOP Senators Say Hold Line On Spending

By JOHN L. TAYLOR

HARRISBURG (AP) — A majority of Senate Republicans have joined with their counterparts in the House in proposing that the state "hold the line" on new spending and negate the need for an income tax.

Sixteen GOP senators Tuesday introduced a $1.9 billion general appropriations bill calling for $112 million in cuts from the budget which Gov. Shafer submitted to the General Assembly in January.

Key sponsors of the bills said they would suggest additional cuts at some future date when they offer companion measures relating to grants to state-related universities, medical schools and other private institutions.

Shafer requested a total $2.52 billion for the coming fiscal year, representing a record 25 per cent increase in state spending. He also recommended imposition of an income tax and increased business taxes to finance the increase.

House Republicans, who backed Shafer's 1967 tax program, served notice on the governor early that they would not support an income tax and offered a counter budget requiring no new revenues.

Although Senate Republicans have refrained from endorsing the House GOP plan, their action in proposing a scaled-down general appropriations bill appeared to reinforce feelings of many lawmakers that the income tax was dead.

The General Assembly was in recess today, after meeting only two days this week. Both House and Senate were scheduled to reconvene Monday.

2 Unions Seeking Credit For Ohio Pay Boost Bill

By DIANA STOVER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two unions would like to take credit for a bill in the Ohio Legislature calling for $41.5 million in pay increases and hospitalization insurance benefits for state workers.

"I'm quite convined that if it were not for the militant stance taken by the state employes union that the pay raises would not have been proposed," said Al Bilik, director of Council 21 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (AFSCME)

On Tuesday, James F. Marshall, executive secretary of the Ohio Civil Service Employes Association, noted that the bill resulted from "week-long negotiations" with his organization.

Both unions indicated the bill could be stronger. Bilik said it was "not enough, but a step forward," and Marshall termed it "an excellent starting point."

The bill was introduced in the Senate Tuesday by the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Robert R. Shaw, R-16 Columbus. It provides pay raises for 87 per cent of the state's 47,000 employes and a new hospitalization plan for all of them.

Under the bill, all state workers making $4 an hour or less would get a raise.

Bilik said he felt the state administration "is working on the basis of good faith" and hinted that his union may call off its planned April 30 day of mourning for state employes.

A work boycott was called for that day to protest wages state workers receive.

In other action the Senate passed, as expected, a bill to require a conglomerate wanting to take over an Ohio firm to make a full disclosure of the assets and its reorganization plan for that firm.

The bill passed as an emergency by a 30-2 vote and now goes to the House.

Sens. Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Piqua and Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, voted against it.

Gray said he was against the "principle" of the bill because in the past Ohio industries have asked to be left alone, but now want the legislature to give them protection from out-of-state conglomerate takeovers.

Mottl, echoing statements made by conglomerate interests in committee hearings, said "nothing will kill a deal faster than the delay caused by a hearing."

One of the bill's sponsors, Sen. William W. Taft, R-26 Cleveland, told the Senate the bill is not aimed at preventing conglomerate takeovers, but only at establishing "ground rules."

Introduced in the Senate was a bill to convey 3.5 acres of the county home farm in Fairfield County to Ohio University.

2 Face Prison Terms In Ohio Girl Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—Two New York men face prison terms of up to 25 years for the rape slaying last summer of a 13-year-old runaway Ohio girl.

Ronnie Alfo, 27, and David Thomas, 31, pleaded guilty Tuesday to first-degree rape charges. They were acused of luring Deborah Neill of Vickery, Ohio, into a Chinatown apartment on the night of July 15, 1968 and then raping her. The girl's body was found later at the bottom of an airshaft in the building.

Ohio Man Charged In Shotgun Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Connie James, 22, was charged with first-degree murder Tuesday night in the shotgun death of Clarence C. Brown, 48, the father of seven children, police reported.

Three other persons were taken into custody as material witnesses.

It's Not Fair

BOLTON, England (AP) — Boys under the age of 13 have been banned from free movie shows organized by Bolton Town Council — unless they are accompanied by adults. But young girls can still go to the shows on their own. The organizers say the girls, unlike the boys, are well behaved.

Bows To British Ultimatum

North Irish Party OKs 1-Man, 1-Vote Principle

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Northern Ireland's ruling Unionist party bowed today to a British ultimatum and accepted the principle of "one-man, one-vote in local council elections.

The vote, in a caucus of the party's representation in the provincial Parliament was 28 to 22. The narrow majority underlined the gravity of the split among Prime Minister Terence O'Neill's Unionists, and signaled that more political battles are to come before the universal franchise is established here.

"One-man, one-vote" is the principal rallying cry of the civil rights demonstrators who for the past six months have thrown Northern Ireland into riot and strife. The campaigners argue that the present voting system, where votes are tied to property taxation, acts unfairly against the Roman Catholics who make up a third of the 1.5 million population.

The vote for full franchise followed a declaration by the British government in London that it could not stand by and see British citizens deprived of equal voting rights. Although Northern Ireland has its own Parliament and controls most local issues. Britain retains an overriding voice through residual powers.

The decision was, however, hedged around with qualifications which may aggravate rather than ease Northern Ireland's current unrest.

The decision came under immediate attack from Brian Faulkner, the 47-year-old former commerce minister who is O'Neill's principal rival for control of the divided Unionist party.

O'Neill threatened to resign unless his ruling Unionist party, which is predominantly Protestant, backed his about-face espousal of the principle of "one man, one vote" in local elections.

Universal suffrage has been the main demand of Catholic civil rights demonstrators, but the concession is certain to further inflame Protestant extremists, who accuse the Catholics of trying to take Northern Ireland out of the United Kingdom and join it to the Irish Republic.

Police with night sticks repeatedly charged a mob of Protestant extremists, who stoned shops and buses in a Catholic district of Belfast Tuesday night. The rioters met the police with a hail of rocks, chunks of steel and firebombs.

No casualty figures were announced but several persons were known to be injured, some seriously.

O'Neill's "one man, one vote" call was a political somersault made under pressure from British Prime Minister Harold Wilson. In the past he had refused to change the existing voting system, under which only property owners and householders can vote in local elections. This favors the Protestants in some predominantly Catholic areas.

Universal suffrage is already the rule in parliamentary elections. The Catholics, who number about a third of Northern Ireland's 1.5 million people, claim they also are discriminated against in housing and jobs.

Unionist members of the provincial parliament were called to special meeting to decide on the voting issue and the future of O'Neill's government.

O'Neill has been prime minister for six years. His party is badly divided on the issue of Catholic civil rights, and some commentators forecast it might split into two separate parties. One faction supports O'Neill's attempts to conciliate the Catholics; the other is sticking with the true-blue Protestanism that was the original foundation of the Unionist party.

O'Neill's position has been weakened by his government's inability to quell the violent riots that began six months ago in Londonderry and spread to other cities. He suffered a personal setback in February's election of a new provincial parliament, only narrowly retaining his seat against a challenge by the Rev. Ian Paisley, the leading Protestant extremist.

The 22-year-old girl whom an Ulster district elected to the British Parliament last week took her seat in the House of Commons Tuesday and in her maiden speech derided O'Neill as "the white liberal of Northern Ireland."

Bernadette Devlin, a 22-year-old Catholic activist, also assailed Britain's Labor government, saying, "A Socialist government with guts would have got rid of him long ago."

Judge To Determine Course Of Peters Case On Thursday

LISBON — Judge Louis Tobin of Juvenile Court will decide Thursday afternoon whether to retain jurisdiction of a contributing charge against a suspended East Liverpool policeman or refer the case to the grand jury for consideration as statutory rape.

A 16-year-old East Liverpool girl testified Tuesday afternoon at a preliminary hearing that she and Arthur Peters, 29, had sexual relations the night of March 6 in his car on a hill behind the O. S. Hill garage in East End.

THE GIRL said she was 16 years old March 16. She was the only witness examined during the two - hour hearing and admitted under cross - examination that the defendant did not force her to submit. She said she had sexual intercourse with a boy "once before."

A probationary police officer with 10 months service, Peters was suspended from the force March 26 pending outcome of the case. He stepped down as president of the East Liverpool chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People during the court action.

Defense Counsel Lawrence W. Smith of East Liverpool asked the court to retain jurisdiction rather than send the case to the Grand Jury.

AFTER a private conference with the judge, the girl's parents and Assistant Prosecuting Atty. John B. McDonald of East Liverpool concurred in Smith's request that the case be kept in Juvenile Court.

However, McDonald said he could not give the court assurance the prosecutor's office will not present the case to the Grand Jury as a felony whatever the outcome of a Juvenile Court hearing

Judge Tobin said the prosecutor may legally do that, but he said he does not think it would be fair to make the defendant stand trial twice for the one act. The judge asked McDonald to find out what the prosecutor intends to do and report Thursday.

If the case is retained, Judge Tobin said, he will demand a written waiver of jury trial from the defendant and a statement of his willingness to let the girl's testimony yesterday be part of any future hearing. Smith said those conditions would be satisfactory.

Vietnam

the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong are receiving supplies and replacements and conserving their strength for a possible summer-autumn offensive while continuing the nin-week-old spring offensive with rocket and mortar attacks.

New Offensive Hinted

"They seem to be preparing for another offensive," said one officer of the 3rd Military Corps zone that stretches from below Saigon to the Cambodian border. "They are now holding meetings, reassessing what they've accomplished and planning new actions."

Thirty rockets and mortar shells hit an American brigade headquarters of the 25th Infantry Division 55 miles northwest of Saigon. One U.S. soldier was killed and 16 were wounded.

Futher reports from the U.S. Marine ambush of North Vietnamese troops crossing a river southwest of Da Nang Monday night said Marine officers now estimate more than 200 of the enemy were killed instead of 50 as reported earlier. One Marine was wounded.

Spot North Vietnamese

Marine officers said a 12-man squad stationed on the north bank of the Vu Gia River spotted the North Vietnamese soldiers moving out of the woods with bamboo sampans to cross the 330-yard-wide stream.

The Marines quietly called in reinforcements and at the same time readied artillery fire. They held their fire until the main enemy column was in midstream, then opened up.

Field reports said 17 sampans loaded with war supplies were wiped out. The Marines estimated they killed 70 soldiers in the sampans, 50 who were guiding the sampans, 27 who were wading through the shallow river and another 57 North Vietnamese on the south shore.

Only 14 enemy bodies were found in freshly dug, shallow graves the next day. Officers said the Marines estimated the other dead by the light of flareships and with sophisticated devices for seeing in the night.

Kent Students Slate Vote On Class Boycott

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Students at Kent State University vote today on whether to hold a four-day classroom boycott at the 18,000-student campus in protest against suspension of students involved in recent campus demonstrations.

In additional to reinstatement of all students suspended, demands include lifting the suspension of the Kent chapter of Students for a Democratic Society and implimentation of the student conduct code as of November, 1968, by the administration.

Tuesday Kent President Robert I. White announced the formation of an emergency student-faculty commission to resolve campus problems White said the commission to "investigate and satisfactorily resolve present conflicts" was created by the student government and the faculty senate.

The Concerned Citizens of the KSU Community, held a teach-in on campus Tuesday night to acquaint students with the issues involved in today's vote.

There have been campus disorders off and on for three weeks at Kent State.

imprisonment of a Mafia lieutenant can curtail operations, but does not put the syndicate out of business," he said.

"As long as the property of organized crime remains, new leaders will step forward to take the place of those we jail.

"However, if we can levy fines on their real estate corporations, if we can seek treble damages against their trucking firms and banks, if we can seize the liquor in their warehouses, I think we can strike a critical blow at the organized crime conspiracy," Nixon contended.

Nixon hit hard during his presidential campaign on the issues of violence, illegal gambling and organized crime's infiltration of legitimate business. And he called the nation's booming crime rate "a great national disaster."

Today's message will be followed by other detailed explanations on narcotics, obscenity, the rights of accused persons and, presumably, crime in the streets.

Nixon had proposed in his budget message last week the Justice Department get $16 million more in the next fiscal year than proposed by former President Johnson to boost its war on illegal operations, the only request he made for hiking a Johnson spending figure.

Nixon as a campaigner pinned part of the blame for the rising crime rate on Supreme Court decisions, and he has indicated he would support laws which would help police regain some weapons they have lost through high court decisions.

Rhodes Heads Washington Visit

Ohio Delegation Informs HUD Of Cities Fund Need

WASHINGTON (AP)—A delegation of Ohio mayors, city managers and state officials, led by Gov. James A. Rhodes, have given the secretary of Housing and Urban Development a first-hand glimpse of Ohio cities' federal development fund needs.

Rhodes said their meeting Tuesday with Secretary George Romney was an attempt to eliminate the time - consuming process of working through the state as a middleman in applying for federal money.

Democratic and Republican mayors were represented at the hour-long conference. Columbus Mayor Maynard E. Sensenbrenner described the bipartisan conference as "the ecumenical movement in government."

Rhodes told reporters later that Ohio is getting a warmer response from the Nixon administration than it had received from former President Johnson.

Sidney Spector, first assistant to Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes, complained to Romney that present Federal Housing Administration policies on loans are excellent for rural areas but don't work in central cities. Spector said the need for housing loans is greatest in ghetto areas, where many are refused because of high business risks.

"We must take chances in ghetto areas," Spector said.

Romney agreed that many FHA lending policies hamper city development, but said he is working to raise lending ceilings for cities. He noted his department's budget is $800 million more than last year.

Romney was discussing the Model Cities program when Dayton city manager Graham Watt conplained it is moving too slow. Romney replied that the program is lagging because the Johnson administration launched it on a "phoney" start.

He said the program was handicapped because the cities named for grants under the program—including nine in Ohio—were selected before the administration was ready to go ahead. Romney said the early selection of the cities were "publicity actions."

Romney said he is optimistic that the program can be speeded up. He said the Nixon budget for next year earmarks $675 million for Model Cities, double the amount available this year.

Other Ohio officials attending the meeting included John S. Ballard, mayor of Arkon; Stanley Cmich, mayor of Canton; David Hall, mayor of Dayton; William Ensign, mayor of Toledo; Albert G. Giles, director of the Ohio Department of Urban Affairs, and Richard Krabach, city manager of Cincinnati.

Judge Suspends Licenses Of Two

Two area motorists had their licenses suspended this morning when they appeared before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on charges of speeding. They had been cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Faye L. Hollinger, 20, of Bell School Rd. was fined $20 and costs and her license suspended for 30 days for driving 90 miles an hour in a 70-mile zone last Saturday on Route 30.

Albert Leroy Ketchum of Salineville RD 2 was fined $20 and costs and given a license suspension of 15 days. He was cited on Route 7 Tuesday for doing 82 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

During an earlier hearing, Collins told the judge he was to leave for the service yesterday.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The fatal beating of an 83-year-old retired steelworker Tuesday was apparently the result of a robbery, police said.

Some diplomats at the United Nations in New York said the recurrent fighting might indeed be prodding the Big Four to greater effort. They added that the alarmist tone of Thant's report left him open to charges that he was agreeing with the contention by Egypt and Jordan that war is inevitable unless the Big Four force Israel into a settlement acceptable to the Arabs. Israel, which opposes outside intervention, denies that there is danger of war.

Thant in a special report to the U.N. Security Council said the council's cease-fire resolutions had "become almost totally ineffective" through 12 straight days of fighting along the canal. But the council president for April, Maj. Gen. Padma Bahadur of Nepal, polled the other council members, and they decided not to hold a special meeting on the report.

The council members agreed that at this time debate might have an adverse effect on the Big Four talks, sources reported.

The U.S. State Department, associating itself with Thant's report, called on Israel and the Arab states to "take effective measures" to maintain the cease-fire and "avoid all actions which aggravate the tense situation."

Israelis today continued their celebration of the 21st anniversary of the Jewish state's formation following a day of fighting on three fronts. Israel's independence was proclaimed May 14, 1948, but the anniversary falls on April 23 this year, according to the Hebrew lunar calendar.

At other campuses:

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Police cleared more than 50 students from a small campus chapel at Marquette University, where they gathered to protest the school's ROTC program.

Marshall, Tex.—Students at all-Negro Wylie College rejected a trustees' report on earlier disorders and said a class boycott was "entirely possible." The trustees had accepted student demands for more academic freedom and amnesty, but refused to fire President T. Winston Cole.

The sheriff's contest last November originally was decided in Smoleski's favor by a 27-vote margin, but it later was ruled that 285 ballots in one Weirton precinct were invalid because they lacked signatures of two receiving board clerks.

This reversed the outcome, making Patrick the winner by 52 votes. The Hancock County Court installed Patrick as sheriff Feb. 10. Then, in a March 28 decision, the Supreme Court ordered the County Court to re-examine the disputed ballots.

Tax Money Loss Discussed By PTA Federation

The possible loss of some $2,000,000 in school funds was discussed during a meeting of the City Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations Tuesday night in the high school.

The loss of funds would result, William C. Thornberry, president, pointed out, if city voters fail to renew two school tax levies in May. That would mean a direct loss of $678,000, and ultimately a loss of more than $1,353,0000, in state aid, he added.

Guests included Thomas Rodfong, board of education member; Leo Lawrence, chairman of a citizens group promoting passage of the levies, and Carl Pelini, assistant superintendent of schools.

The three spoke briefly, and the 20 members of the group attending held an informal discussion on the levies and the general school situation.

Thornberry said a levy defeat would bring total school taxation to less than the 17.5 mills required by state law for reducation foundation funds.

Eye transplant recipients, unlike heart recipients, face few organ rejection problems because the eye does not have as many exposed blood vessels, Moore said.

Moore is an assistant professor of ophthalmology at Baylor College of Medicine. He was named recently as assistant director of the Institute of Ophthalmology in the Texas Medical Center.

"This would be the miracle of the day. To my knowledge there has never been this type of operation—that is, the attachment of the entire organ.

"This would be an accomplishment of first rate scientific merit."

The severe pain was eased and the youngster reported he felt much better, although there was some discomfort from the latest incision. Mrs. McCraw said her son looked "much better."

Doctors had been concerned about the continuing infection which had caused a high fever until new antibiotics were administered last week. They were uncertain if the new kidney was being rejected.

However, Mrs. McCraw said the physicians reported last night, "We're still in the ball game!"

The kidney donor was 9-year-old Pauline Dinuno, daughter of Mrs. Frank Eileen Howard of South Heights, Beaver County, and Vincent Dinuno of Edgeworth. She died shortly before the operation.

East Liverpool's Bernie Allen, with doubles Sunday and Monday, has raised his season's average to .250 on 3 for 12.

Allen started the year riding the bench for the Washington Senators, as Tim Cullen was hitting well. But Cullen has gone into a slump, so manager Ted Williams inserted Allen at second base to try to add some punch to the lineup.

Allen, who played six years with the Twins before joining the Senators last season, still is among Minnesota's all-time leaders in several departments. He is eighth in doubles with 75, ninth in home runs with 32, in games witb 492, in at bats with 1,595, in RBI's with 163 and in extra-base hits with 117, and 10th in hits with 392 and triples with 10.

LORENA McMATH of Chester, bowling on Pittsburgh's Channel 4 Saturday, won her match by 16 pins. Miss McMath, bowling well beneath her average, lost the first two games, but rolled a 173 in the final game to pull out the match. She is now on the Channel 4 flight board for possible entry into the finals.

ONE OF THE reasons the Boston Celtics are are so successful in the NBA is their depth. The Celts had seven players averaging in double figures this season, and Bill Russell just missed with 9.9. The Lakers, who will take on the Celtics in the final playoffs, have only four players in double figures, but three of them, Jerry West, Elgin Baylor and Wilt Chamberlain, combined for 70 points a game. All of the nine players who were in at least three fourths of the Lakers games scored at least 6.2 points a game. Mel Counts hit a surprising 12.4 a contest. After Russell, the Celtics drop off to 5.7 averages or worse. John Halvicek led Boston with a 21.6 average and Larry Siegfried added 14.2.

Ron (Fritz) Williams of Weirton and WVU averaged 7.8 points a game for the San Francisco Warriors, seventh on the team. Rod Thorn, another former WVU star, averaged 11.5 points a game in only 29 games for Seattle. West of course, led the ex-WVUers with a 25.9 average, the second best average in the league.

Giant Win Ends Dodger Streak

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

All good things must come to an end and the Los Angeles Dodgers can testify to that. But do all bad things come to an end—that's what the Houston Astros would like to know.

The Dodgers' good thing ended at six straight victories Tuesday night when they absorbed a 6-0 defeat at the hands of the San Francisco Giants. Houston's bad thing kept right on going as the Astros took a 14-0 secutive loss.

In other National League action Tuesday, Montreal shut out St. Louis 2-0, Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from Chicago 7-5 and 6-5 and San Diego socked Atlanta 8-4. Philadelphia's game at New York was postponed by rain.

In the American League, Oakland shut out Minnesota 7-0, Boston battered New York 8-2, California blanked Chicago 8-0, Kansas City edged Seattle 2-1, Baltimore nipped Cleveland 3-2 and Detroit downed Washington 4-2.

Ray Sadecki put an end to the Dodgers' tidy little string of victories, limiting LA to six hits—only two after the second inning.

Bobby Bonds socked his second home run of the season for the Giants, who shelled Don Drysdale and tagged the Dodger ace with his second loss in three decisions.

An error by Ted Sizemore led to a pair of unearned runs for the Giants in the fourth and San Francisco knocked out Drysdale with three more in the next inning.

Drysdale was downcast afterwards and talked about possible retirement because of an arm injury.

"I'm not making any excuses," Drysdale said. "But I'm going to have to do some serious soul searching in the next few days. I just can't get anything on the ball. I'm not going to keep going like this."

Then Drysdale hedged, saying he would continue to take his regular turn "if Mr. Alston wants it that way." Manager Walt Alston said he believed Drysdale, a Dodger starter for 13 years, had better stuff than he did in his two previous outings.

Tony Perez clubbed four hits including a two-run homer and Johnny Bench drove in five runs in Cincinnati's drubbing of Houston. The Astros managed just three hits against Mel Queen and Clay Carroll.

Queen, attempting a comeback from arm trouble, worked six innings before his arm acted up and Carroll took over. The Reds rapped 18 hits and ran their two-game totals to 25 runs against the Astros.

Bill Stoneman, who hurled a no-hitter in his last start, came back with a second straight shutout as Montreal blanked St. Louis. Stoneman allowed six hits and got the only run he needed when Rusty Staub singled home an unearned run in the first inning.

Pittsburgh cooled off the Cubs with rookie Bob Robertson playing a key role in the doubleheader sweep.

Robertson doubled home a pair of runs in the fourth inning of the opener and then delivered the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning. Robertson had tripled and scored earlier and Willie Stargell had whacked a grand slam home run.

Chuck Hartenstein in the first game and Ron Kline in the second turned in airtight relief to hold the Cubs off.

Ollie Brown walloped a three-run homer, highlighting a six-run San Diego explosion in the sixth inning that carried the Padres past Atlanta. Brown also had a single and a double and drove in four runs.

Ken Harrelson Agrees To Report To Indians

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ken Harrelson entered the baseball commissioner's office a Hawk, came out a drove and immediately flapped his wings in the direction of the baseball and financial districts of Cleveland.

"Ken Harrelson will be in Cleveland Wednesday night and will be in uniform when the Indians play the New York Yankees," Gabe Paul, president and general manager of the Indians, announced with a sigh of relief Tuesday night.

A four-hour session in the office of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn thus settled the six-player trade between the Indians and Boston Red Sox which was thrown into confusion Sunday when Harrelson, a slugging outfielder-first baseman, said he would retire from baseball rather than report to Cleveland and lose an estimated $750,000 in business opportunities in Boston.

The Hawk and pitchers Dick Ellsworth and Juan Pizarro were sent to Cleveland Saturday for pitchers Sonny Siebert and Vicento Romo and catcher Joe Azcue. The other players had been ordered withheld from action until the deal was ironed out and Boston manager Dick Williams immediately named Siebert as today's starter against Washington.

"I went in there determined to stay out," Harrelson insisted, "but they are very persuasive gentlemen, particularly Mr. Kuhn and Mr. Paul. They started working on me right away and I fought back. They argued and I replied, but after a while they started to win me over. At one point I felt like a little schoolboy about to get a spanking.

"They made me realize what I was doing was bad for myself and that I should be back in baseball. I'm glad to have settled this thing. I feel great. I'm a ballplayer. I want to get back and do my thing."

Paul and Harrelson refused to disclose financial terms, saying only that Harrelson would play under the terms of his Red Sox contract. Paul added, however, that Harrelson signed an additional contract for the 1970 season.

And the mod, mod Hawk—dressed in blue bellbottom slacks, white boots, white turtleneck sweater, ascot tie held by a gold clasp and blue jacket—was looking forward to captivating the folks in Cleveland as he did in Boston.

"They convinced me the outside opportunities in Cleveland could be the same as in Boston," he said. "If we win the pennant in Cleveland, I'm sure the same business opportunities would be open to me there.

"My Boston interests are solid, although my future business there probably would be hurt by not being there. I've got gambling blood in me. I'm ready to get out and try. Everything is based on performance."

Harrelson also said he was concerned about the five other players, who had been in a state of limbo for three days.

Eyes Bout With Quarry

Frazier KOs Zyglewicz In Only 96 Seconds

HOUSTON (AP) — Now that he has disposed of a bricklayer with two vicious swings of his wicked left hook, the question before boxing circles today was whether Joe Frazier is ready to risk his share of the world's heavyweight title against rugged Jerry Quarry.

It took the quick-fisted Frazier only 96 seconds to destroy unknown and unranked Dave Zyglewicz Tuesday night in the Philadelphian's third title defense.

Speculation was that Frazier had been offered a quarter of a million dollars to meet Quarry, the No. 2 World Boxing Association heavyweight, June 23 in the Garden.

Yancey "Yank" Durham, Frazier's manager, said, "we're still dickering. It looks pretty good. That much money would sure be hard to turn down."

Indians Lose Again, Red Sox Keep Going

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians, given one last chance, proved again that only good can come from finally landing The Hawk.

After Ken Harrelson decided to forego retirement Tuesday evening and report to Cleveland the Indians went out and celebrated in what has become their accustomed way—by losing.

Showing why they need Harrelson's big bat, the Indians were grounded by the Baltimore Orioles 3-2 Tuesday night for their seventh consecutive defeat and 11th in 12 games this season.

Meanwhile, the Boston Red Sox showed again they can win without Harrelson, unloading four home runs to beat the New York Yankees 8-3 for their second victory in three starts since trading Harrelson last Saturday.

In other games, the Detroit Tigers rallied for a 4-2 decision over Washington, Kansas City fought for a 2-1 victory over Seattle, Oakland trounced Minnesota 7-0 and California mauled the Chicago White Sox 8-0.

The Indians, desperately needing some fire power after scoring only 34 runs in 12 games, this time rolled over and died for Tom Phoebus and Pete Richert.

Phoebus, raising his record to 3-0, yielded only three hits before walking the bases full with two out in the eighth inning, but Richert came on to retire Max Alvis on one pitch and blank the Indians in the ninth.

Cleveland needed a walk, stolen base, passed ball and an error to get one run and Larry Brown homered for the other.

But the Orioles, who humbled the Indians 11-0 the night before, won this one on Boog Powell's first homer that broke a 2-2 deadlock in the fifth inning.

Boston, on the other hand, showed little affect from losing the American League's run batted in champion of 1968 as Mike Andrews, Rico Petrocelli and Carl Yastrzemski slammed solo homers and Tony Conigliaro belted a three-run shot in the fourth, breaking a 2-2 tie.

The attack against Stan Bahnsen, 0-4, made it easy for unbeaten Ray Culp, who won his third in a row with a four-hitter. Only Joe Pepitone's two-run homer troubled him.

Detroit was having hitting troubles against Camilo Pascual, who had a one-hitter—Bill Freehan's homer—entering the ninth inning before the Tigers broke loose.

Pinch hitter Tom Matchick opened the ninth with a hit and Gates Brown, another pinch hitter, walked. Then Dick McAuliffe finished Pascual with a two-run triple and Al Kaline followed with a sacrifice fly.

Kansas City used Pat Kelly's elusive slide home on Lou Piniella's short sacrifice fly in the fifth inning to break a 1-1 deadlock for its victory, but not before a battle royal.

The benches and bullpens of both teams emptied with numerous fights in the fourth inning after the Royals' Ellie Rodriguez bowled over second baseman Tommy Harper of the Pilots on a force play. First Rodriguez and Harper squared off, prompting their teammates to join them.

DAN CUNNINGHAM

Dan Cunningham Gets Oregon St. Scholarship

Dan Cunningham of East Liverpool has accepted a football scholarship to Oregon State University at Corvallis, Oregon.

Cunningham played quarterback on this year's 8-2 Potter football team. He set a school record for most yards gained passing in a game and was honorable mention all-state UPI.

Cunningham visited the OSU campus this past weekend and was recruited by assistant coach Bud Riley. Dee Andros, otherwise known as "The Great Pumpkin", is the head football coach of the Beavers. Andros builds his team around speed rather than size, so Cunningham figures to fit right in. The OSU offense revolves around the quarterback, with lots of rollouts and option plays, another factor that pleases Cunningham.

The scholarship overs tuition and room and board. Cunningham is the farthest East OSU recruit this year. He will also play baseball for the Beavers.

Beaver Local Golfers Top Springfield

The Beaver Local golf team, defying the rain, won its fifth match of the season against two losses with a 182-201 triumph over Springfield Local at the East Liverpool Country Club yesterday.

Bob Eardley and Rick Metz paced the Beavers with 43s. John Torma had a 46 and Dave Bentz a 50.

Dick Marlowe led Springfield with a 45, Glen Milton had a 46, Rick Carano a 53 and Fred Kihm a 57.

Sports Yesterday Disrupted By Rain

The East Liverpool at South Side baseball game was postponed until today, as was the Midland at Quigley track meet. The Lisbon at Sebring track meet was put off until May 1.

The Lisbon - United Local golf match was called off. The New Brighton at Midland baseball game was rained out after three innings with the score tied 2-2. It will not be replayed.

Rochester Tracksters Rip Western

For Ideas On Anti-Poverty Program

Rumsfeld Cites OEO As Test Tube

WASHINGTON (AP) — Donald Rumsfeld, a congressman who fought creation of the Office of Economic Opportunity, says the agency under his direction will be a test tube for ideas rather than an administrator of antipoverty programs.

Rumsfeld, the Illinois Republican named this week by President Nixon to run the antipoverty agency, said in an interview, OEO will be "a very special mechanism . . . an incubator for ideas," aimed at producing "precise and responsive solutions to problems" of the poor.

One the OEO think tank decides an idea is workable, its administration will, if possible, be passed to other agencies to administer, the 36-year-old Prineton graduate said.

Rumsfeld, whose district covers some of Chicago's wealthiest suburbs, said that his opposition to OEO's creation in 1966 and his later votes against funds for the ageny did not mean he was against any government antipoverty efforts.

There were better alternatives, he said.

Some of the choices offered by Republicans, including Nixon and Rumsfeld, when President Johnson formed OEO as part of his War on Poverty were proposals that old line agencies run the programs.

Nixon has followed that line with his recent order moving two key projects from OEO to other agencies—the Job Corps to the Labor Department and Project Head Start to the Office of Education.

Rumsfeld's general plans—he did not offer any specifics—indicate approval of such moves and the probability of more.

Rumsfeld sees his more than six years in Congress—a seat he will give up upon Senate confirmation—as proof that he is a problem solver. His office wall is adorned with a poster reading: "If you're not part of the solution . . . You're part of the problem.

As part of his scientific problem solving approach, he said, "OEO will develop approaches and ideas that can be tested and made workable . . . and if they cannot work, they will be stopped."

Rumsfeld also indicated it is difficult to put a price tag on what his agency will produce or expect immediate results.

"The measurement of OEO should not be in the volume of dollar flow-through," he said. "I believe the job is to think and make recommendations and then, through demonstration, to function."

Not everything will work that OEO tries, Rumsfeld admitted. "Failures are to be expected," he said. But "every finding that things do not work is progress when you are in the research and development field. Part of the past difficulties in this field have arisen because there is so much we don't know."

Driver Charged In Area Mishap

A Toronto driver was cited for speed in excess of safe road conditions Tuesday afternoon following a two-car collision on Route 7 a third of a mile north of Steubenville.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Wintersville aid a car driven by Michael S. Sokol, 23, of 1329 Madison Ave., Toronto, was rammed from behind by the vehicle operated by Roy Franklin Ross, 21, of 609 N. 5th St., Toronto.

Ofifcers said Sokol had slowed to avoid hitting an unidentified motorist when the Ross auto rammed his car.

Flood Crest Rolls Southward

Iowa, Illinois Residents Patrol Dikes And Levees

By The Associated Press

Residents along the Mississippi River in Iowa and Illinois maintained patrols on dikes and levees today as one of the highest flood crests of the century rolled southward.

The Mississippi was above flood stage from Libby, Minn., to Cape Girardeau, Mo. The crest was expected to reach Prairie du Chien, Wis., today and Dubuque, Iowa, Saturday.

Most riverside communities were confident that reinforced defense systems would save them from the spring flooding that has already caused an estimated $49 million damage to the north.

But the Army Corps of Engineers urged constant vigilance over the seawalls, heightened levees, emergency dikes and drainage areas and warned the most dangerous period was yet to come.

The aftermath of the crest would be critical, it said, because the earthen levees, weakened by river pressures, would be vulnerable to softening.

Some communities still have not fully recovered from the worst Mississippi flood on record, in 1965, when 38,000 persons fled their homes and damage mounted to $150 million.

In Minot, N.D., where the overflowing Souris River earlier had sliced the community in two, the waters pushed through a plugged culvert Tuesday, flooding an additional 100 homes.

One-third of the town's 35,000 residents already had been evacuated, but officials removed many more because of the leak beneath the Soo Line rail tracks. Army engineers used rock, clay and sandbags to stem the flow.

Overflows subsided on some tributaries of the Mississippi, particularly the Minnesota and the Des Moines. But only the Big Sioux of South Dakota had receded from flood stage and returned to its banks.

The crest on the northward-flowing Red River, which expanded to an 8-by-150-mile lake along the Minnesota-North Dakota border, surged toward Pembina, northernmost city below Canada.

In Wisconsin, the Mississippi was receding at La Crosse and points upstream and officials reported the situation under control.

Downstream in Wisconsin, cities were awaiting the crest. An estimated 100 to 150 families in Prairie du Chien were relocated weeks ago from the riverside area which is flooded almost annually.

In Cassville, the last Wisconsin town on the Mississippi flood route and hard hit by record 1965 depths, new levees constructed this year were holding up well and only three families were forced to evacuate.

The Weather Bureau flood control center in Hartford, Conn., predicted rain and issued flash flood warnings for small streams in southern Vermont and western Massachusetts and Connecticut.

In Dalton, Mass., the Housatonic River climbed above its banks and rose to first-floor level. But no damage was reported.

LisbonArea Man Unhurt In Farm Tractor Accident

A 20-year-old Lisbon area man escaped serious injury Tuesday when his 1961 farm tractor went off Route 45 just north of Wellsville, hit a parked truck and went over two embankments.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Alan H. Buzzard of Lisbon RD 2 was driving south at th time. The parked truck was owned by Donald K. Deem of 1222 Hillcrest Rd.

The tractor went over an embankment along the Pleasant Valley Rd. and over another embankment. Buzzard jumped from the tractor before it came to rest over a third embankment, officers said, after traveling out of control for 150 feet. The mishap occurred at 4:30 p.m.

Officers said a truck driver reported this morning at 4:12 his rig struck and killed a horse on Route 14 near the Midway Drive-In Theater.

Apollo Moon Program Due 'New Voice'

Paul Haney, "The Voice of Apollo," said he had been booted off the job after a series of acrimonious exchanges with Julian Scheer, chief of public affairs for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In Washington, the agency announced that a former newsman, Brian Duff, was taking over Haney's assignment.

Haney told newsmen at a conference Tuesday he had received orders to report to Washington Monday for a new job in NASA headquarters.

Haney said the move came after weeks of "badgering" from Scheer.

Scheer confirmed that Haney was getting a new job, but had no comment on Haney's account of what happened.

Scheer said Haney's new job would be to coordinate public affairs programs under development.

Haney had been chief of public affairs for the Manned Spacecraft Center, the working home of the nation's astronauts, at an annual salary of $21,000. He acted as the mission commentator for the first two Apollo missions, interpreting the space flights for the world and playing tapes of astronaut radio talk.

Haney, 40, said he was stunned by the job reassignment and that it might be "a governmental way of firing someone."

Deliberations Continue In Sirhan Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For 70 days the jurors in the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial have eaten together, relaxed together, slept in the same hotel and even agreed on a first degree murder verdict. But so far they obviously can't agree whether Sirhan shall live or die for murdering Robert F. Kennedy.

For 2½ hours Monday and 6½ Tuesday, the seven men and five women discussed the penalty without coming to a consensus—raising a small spectre of a hung jury in a trial that has lasted more than 15 weeks.

The deliberations were to start again at 8 a.m. today.

"I'm concerned about it," said Grant B. Cooper, the chief defense counsel, who sweated out the verdict in the courtroom. "Either a minority or a majority are voting for death."

Cooper had asked for a verdict of second degree murder—which carries a penalty of five years to life. After the jury voted first degree after 3½ days of deliberation, he pleaded that Sirhan's life be spared.

Prosecutor John E. Howard, who told the jury that since Sirhan was convicted of first degree murder "he has no special claim to further preservation," said he was not surprised by the length of penalty deliberations.

"I think they are giving it conscientious consideration," Howard said. "I never expected them back before Wednesday."

In California law, the jury decides the penalty for first degree murder with only two choices, life or death.

Should the jury report itself hopelessly deadlocked, the judge can himself impose the lesser penalty—life in prison. Or he can impanel a new jury for the penalty phase, requiring new presentation of evidence, more arguments.

Leaders Pay Tribute To Eugene Kettering

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—More than 500 government, business and military leaders paid tribute Tuesday to millionaire Dayton industrialist and philanthropist Eugene W. Kettering, who died Saturday in New York at age 60.

Mills, Byrnes Give Views

Tax Reform Plans Seen Short Of 'Tagging' Rich

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top Republican and Democratic members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee both say President Nixon's tax reform proposals do not go far enough in eliminating tax shelters for the very rich.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and the committee's ranking Republican, Wisconsin Rep. John W. Byrnes, said what is needed is the removal of exemptions and loopholes that allow some wealthy persons to avoid paying any federal income tax.

Nixon, they said, merely wants to limit the use of such tax shelters, not purge them from the tax structure.

They raised the issue Tuesday as Treasury Undersecretary Charles E. Walker and assistant secretary Edwin S. Cohen went before the committee to begin detailing what was emphasized as the administration's interim tax program.

Initial reaction from the committee, which passes on all tax bills, appeared favorable to two major elements of the program—halving the income surtax next year and repeal of the 7 per cent business investment credit.

These two issues are assured prompt consideration because the 10 per cent surtax is to expire completely June 30 unless Congress acts and Mills wants to link consideration of the surtax extension with repeal of the investment credit.

In discussing the advantages now enjoyed by high income earners, Mills indicated Nixon was timid in failing to call for an end to tax shelters.

"There is a momentum for change," Mills said. "I want us to act while this momentum exists, while taxpayers still remember what they paid on April 15."

Byrnes told newsmen he would not be surprised to see the committee go well beyond the administration suggestions.

Mills questioned the administration witnesses as to why they had not given more weight to the reduced tax on capital gains in drawing their interim proposals on tax shelters.

Walker and Cohen said a change in capital gains taxation would be a fundamental one, and the treasury is including it in the basic study Nixon has asked to be completed by Nov. 30.

Mills indicated to newsmen, however, that he will go into the subject before then. He has set an early August target date for House passage of a reform bill.

He said consideration of taxation on capital gains—profit made on sale of an asset—should include the possibility of varying the tax according to the length of time it is held and also the kind of property involved.

He said it is hard to justify taxing the profits on the sale of stock held for six months—the minimum period—in the same manner as the gain on a once-in-a-lifetime sale of a residence or a family business that may have been held for decades.

Wellsville Delays Newlin Event For Visit By Rhodes

A dinner scheduled in Wellsville in connection with a fund raising project for a memorial to Pfc. Melvin Newlin has been postponed to permit Gov. Rhodes to speak.

Pfc. Newlin who was fatally wounded in action in Vietnam in 1967 posthumously received the Congressional Medal of Honor last month.

Authorities said Gov. Rhodes's office indicated he would not be available to attend the May 29 event, so it was postponed until the Gov. can be present. He will be out of the country.

Plans call for a memorial to be erected at Springhill Cemetery.

Local Student, Others Treated In Emergencies

A Westgate Junior High student, injured while using a power saw, and six other area residents were treated Tuesday at City Hospital.

Others treated and released were:

Marshall Optimistic

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — James F. Marshall, executive secretary of the Ohio Civil Service Employes Association, is optimistic about prospects for a pay raise for state employes, despite an austerity drive by the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Marshall, said a salary increase bill introduced in the Ohio General Assembly Tuesday is "an excellent starting point" in solving current wage grievances.

If Work Loads Bill Passes

Ohio's Universities Fear They'll Become Faceless

By DIANA STOVER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State universities fear they will become "faceless" if the legislature passes a bill to require the Ohio Board of Regents to determine faculty work loads and standards.

For two hours Tuesday state university officials paraded before the Ohio House Education Committee to testify against the substitute bill sponsored by the Chairman, Rep. Mark C. Schinnerer, R-49 Lakewood.

"We can regulate ourselves," Dr. Phillip R. Shriver, president of Miami University, told the committee.

Shriver said the bill "would make us faceless universities," forcing the 12 state universities into "close conformity."

He said if reform was needed it could be accomplished by the schools themselves.

Shriver, as well as most representatives from the universities, said they feared allowing the Regents to be changed from a coordinating board to a controlling board.

The bill requires the board to do five things by Sept. 1, 1969:

—Establish faculty workload standards.

— Set maximum enrollment limitations at the main campus of each state university.

— Establish standards for staffing departmental administration, library services, instructional services, student personnel servies and general administration services.

— Set salary standards for general administrative personnel.

The president of troubled Kent State University, Dr. Robert White, said if the Regents set faculty standards, it would give "the finest aid and comfort to violent student protests.

White said faculty members "must feel they are participating and are shareholders" in the decisions made by the university.

"As you know, Kent State and myself have been tormented for the past two weeks," White said of the student unrest set off by the militant Students for a Democratic Society.

But, he added, partly because KSU faculty members feel they are part of the university, they have supported administration actions.

The president of the University of Akron, Norman P. Auburn, said the bill would "weaken the grass roots interest" in universities.

Findley Bill Will Ask U.S. Lift Trade Curbs With Reds

By JACK KNEECE
Associated PressWriter

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Illinois farm belt congressman says he will file Thursday a bill to remove American restrictions on trade with Communist China and European Iron Curtain countries.

Rep. Paul Findley, a Republican, said enactment of his proposal would open vital new markets for American farm surpluses.

"I firmly believe that U.S. moves showing we want to normalize relations with China and Eastern Europe will do more than anything else to make Soviet behavior more reasonable," Findley said in an interview.

U.S. law now forbids all trade with Red China. America does not recognize the Peking regime, accepting instead the government-in-exile on Formosa.

Last month two United States senators called for an easing of relations with China, but no legislative proposals were filed.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, called for admission of Red China to the UN, resumption of diplomatic relations and removal of travel and nonstrategic trade barriers.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Penn., said in Tokyo that the U.S. should initiate efforts to sign a commercial treaty with the mainland nation but did not propose abandonment of the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa.

Findley predicted that his trade bill will be denounced by some as radical and pro-Communist but he said the time has come for a change in U.S. attitudes.

Findley's program would lift the embargo on trade with China, rescind requirements for licensing agricultural exports to Communist countries, authorize a trade mission to Canton, China, and permit the President to extend tariff privileges to Czechoslovakia.

Kline Raps GOP For Lag In Legislation

HARRISBURG (AP) — The General Assembly decided to give itself an extra day off Tuesday by forgoing the usual Wednesday session but not before Senate Minority Leader Ernest P. Kline took time to blame the situation of the Senate Republicans.

"This session of the General Assembly is nearly four months old," Kline said. "Nearly 600 bills have been introduced in this chamber but the Senate has managed to pass only 58 of its own bills and just three of the 77 that were sent here by the House of Representatives."

The fault, he said, was with the Republicans who control all the committees.

"There has been little effort on the part of the Republican majority to make this a working session," the Democratic leader said.

He observed that the Senate calender for Tuesday carried only eight bills — two of them in position for final passage. The next day's calendar — next Monday — will carry only one bill in position for final passage.

A single bill was passed by the Senate Tuesday and sent to the House. It would change adoption laws to allow husbands or wives to adopt stepchildren.

Senate President Pro Tempore Robert D. Fleming, R - Allegheny, announced the formation of a five-man committee to investiage the cause of campus unrest as authorized by a recent Senate resolution.

"TO PUT A BITE IN YOUR KISS"

A NEW ADVENTURE is in the offing for Thor M. Heyerdahl, hero of the Kon-Tiki expedition. Heyerdahl, shown here supervising workmen, and a crew of six plan to sail from Morocco to "somewhere in Central America" in a bi-pod square sailboat resembling an Egyptian solar boat. The craft, made of papyrus reeds, will measure 45 feet long and 15 feet wide and will support a wicker cabin. Heyerdahl chose three men of the Reduma tribe to build the vessel since they are experts in this type of construction. The adventurer plans to embark on the marathon Atlantic voyage in May.

The DOCTOR Says

Tantrum Crying Is Best Ignored

A mother writes that her daughter, age 1, wakes up crying loudly three or four times every night. She has tried ignoring it, holding the child and giving her milk or water but nothing seems to help. This has been going on since the child was 5 months old. She is otherwise happy and healthy.

Dr. Brandstadt

Going to sleep when put to bed, then waking up crying, usually starts with a bad cold, earahe or teething but when it persists for seven months or more it is a habit aimed at getting attention. If you can be sure the child isn't cold, hungry, thirsty or in pain it is best to ignore the crying.

This will be rough for a few nights but she will soon learn that nothing is to be gained by these outbursts and she will stop. The ignoring must be complete — no peeking into her room and no talking to her by you or your husband while the crying is going on.

Q — My grandson, 3½, cries every night when he is put to bed. His mother lets him cry himself to sleep but sometimes this takes two or three hours. How can she get him to go to sleep without crying?

A — This boy has developed an exaggerated fear of separation, probably as a result of some earlier experience. Children who have been brought up in a household with several persons in addition to their parents are less likely to fall into this behavior pattern.

A child of 3½ is old enough to be reasoned with. His mother should explain to him that she will be there in the morning, well and happy and ready to start a new day with him but that for now he'd best go right to sleep without any fuss.

She sould then quietly leave the room and let him cry if he feels he must. She should ask him in the morning what his reason was for crying and give him further reassurance.

Q — My daughter, age 13 months, has mucus in her stools whether they are formed or loose. Sometimes there is blood also. Where does the mucus come from? Should I have her stools examined?

A — Inflammation of the mucous lining of the bowel will stimulate the production of a large amount of mucus. The blood could be caused by a thick stool, amebic dysentery or ulcerative colitis. A thorough examinaton to determine the cause of the trouble should be made without delay.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Back Home In Tennessee

Gore Termed As Fighting For His 'Political Life'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Sen. Albert Gore, one of the most liberal of the senators from the Old Confederacy and a leading critic of the Vietnam war and the antiballistic missile proposals is fighting for his political life back home in Tennessee.

Despite his feverish fence mending, some supporters question whether the 61-year-old Democrat can withstand what one called "an anti-Democratic tide sweeping the southern half of the country."

As a measure of his concern Gore has made more than 40 personal appearances in his home state since January, is devoting long weekends to politicking, has set up offices in Memphis and Nashville, rented apartments in both cities and named his former campaign manager as a full-time $18,000 aide in western Tennessee.

Acknowledging his problems, Gore told the Associated Press "I will be swimming upstream and the current is right swift. That about sums it up."

On the other side of the coin, some Republicans fear Brock and Kuykendall will drift into a primary battle over who will face Gore and give Democrats an opportunity to pick up a House seat.

Gore is aiming much of his efforts at Memphis and the rest of western Tennessee, an old Democratic fortress which turned to third party candidate George Wallace in the 1968 presidential election. Eastern Tennessee, said a Gore friend, is "more Republican than Maine or New Hampshire ever were."

When Gore came out in support of Kennedy over Long in the Senate whip contest, potential adversary Kuykendall recalled southern loyalties, saying:

"I feel that it is very unfortunate for the people of Tennessee that one of their representatives in the Senate would put his support behind a man who has never shown any concern for the problems and needs of our part of the country."

But there may be some gain for Gore in the Kennedy vote.

His support of the New Englander may bring him Kennedy help in next year's contest. There also has been an end to speculation that a Kennedy family friend in Nashville, John Jay Hooker Jr., might challenge Gore in a Democratic primary.

Beaver Countian Faces Trial In Fatal Hotel Fire

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (AP) — The trial of two men in connection with a hotel fire in Alamogordo Feb. 2 is scheduled to start today with the selection of a jury.

The two defendants, Leonard Pawlenko, 21, Long Island, N. Y., and Thomas L. Schallot, 22, New Brighton, Pa., will stand trial on reduced charges.

Assistant Dist. Atty. James Huber charged each of them with three counts of involuntary manslaughter, a reduction from the original charges of murder and criminal damage to property.

Appeals Court Judge Lafel Oman of Santa Fe had dismissed arson charges against the two earlier. He tossed out the charges on grounds that the law under which they were charged was unconstitutional.

The fire, in the Wilward Hotel, took the lives of Stanton Lewis, 56, Winfield A. Thomas 48, and Clarence Knecht, 84.

The trial has been scheduled to start Tuesday, but was postponed a day. Huber gave no reason for the postponement. Members of the jury panel gathered for the trial were told to return today.

The loon, an aquatic bird common to the fresh waters of northern America, is characterized by its fast dives into the water and sudden reappearances yards away. It is able to swim much faster under water than on the surface.

ANN LANDERS

Physician Corrects Ann

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: As a pediatrician I must take issue with your advice to the 11-year-old boy whose mother made him eat for lunch what he refused to eat for breakfast. You said it was a wonderful idea and you hoped other mothers would do the same.

Obesity is a major health problem today and your suggestion doesn't help any. Eating habits are acquired early and are difficult to change. Unfortunately, too many mothers feel it is a virtue to clean a plate and a sin to leave anything.

A great many people are in the habit of eating too much because their mothers made them feel guilty about leaving food.

The wise mother offers her children the right kinds of food and does not make an issue of how much or little he eats. A child will eat as much as he needs. If a youngster repeatedly leaves food, the servings should be reduced.

Your advice is usually excellent, Ann, but you let us down this time. — Anchorage, M.D.

Dear M.D.: You're right. I goofed when I applauded the mother for serving oatmeal for lunch when the kid threw the breakfast oatmeal down the clothes chute. (I didn't think he sould get away with it.)

Even so, the advice was poor because children shouldn't be made to eat food they dislike particularly as punishment. Shame on me! I'll take 10 whacks with Dr. B. Spock's book.

Pouting Father

Dear Ann: Our daughter and her fiance are planning a church wedding in June. The young man is a splendid person. They went together for 2½ years and are very much in love.

Problem: The father of the groom happens to be a clergyman. His son did not follow his faith but joined ours. Now the father refuses to attend the wedding because he believes it would be showing approval of his son's chosen church and he does not wish to do this.

The father has asked that there be no big wedding, that the couple slip off to another state and be married quietly. The young couple is deeply hurt by his attitude. Please express an opinion. — RSVP Negative.

Dear Neg.: The groom's father is out of tune with the times. Where's his ecumenical spirit?

These days when Methodists in Evanston invite their Jewish friends to church for a Passover-Easter supper, and nuns in Grand Rapids chant Hebrew music for a Bar Mitzvah, and the Knights of Columbus and the Masons have a joint meeting in South Bend, the groom's father is clearly out in left field.

Still Correct

Dear Ann: Have you flipped your lid? Recently a 14-year-old girl asked if it's possible to get pregnant if a girl keeps all her clothes on. You said Yes. You CAN'T mean it. Please explain. — ZONKED ZELLIC.

Dear Z: The girl's clothes need not come OFF. They can be unzipped, unhooked, unsnapped, loosened and rearranged. Get it?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

℞ DON'T CONFUSE CANKERS WITH COLD SORES

Cold sores are on the outside of the lips and are caused by a virus. Canker sores are on the inside of the mouth and not on the gums.

The cause of canker sores is not definitely certain. A form of strep grem has been found in such ulcers. Some experts blame injury to the tissues, caused by a tooth brush or hard foods. Others blame them on an allergic reaction. If you are often troubled by canker sores consult a physician.

Infant's Weight At Birth, Life Span Studied

NEW DELHI (AP) — The relationship between the weight of an infant at birth and its life span will be the subject of intensive research here.

The United States government has made available 650,000 rupees ($87,000) for the research to be conducted at the All India Medical Institute.

The panel will study the case history both of prematurely born babies and those born after normal term of pregnancy. It will keep in touch with both such children and their mothers over a period of years.

The institute spokesman said the babies whose weights are low at birth are more susceptible to some ailments affecting the lungs and the circulatory system.

The study should also enable doctors to save babies who otherwise would be stillborn. The impact of family planning measures on the health of mothers and infants will also be studied.

The senate in the space of a minute adopted adverse committee reports killing six bills sponsored by the Democratic legislator.

New Mexico's senate rarely has killed six bills in one day, let alone six by one senator.

Montoya is the brother of U.S. Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M.

Tourists Are Confused By Pennyrile Region

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Tourists often are confused by the fact that one of the six geographical regions into which the state is divided is called the Pennyrile. How did it get that name?

Pennyrile is nothing but a colloquial spelling of pennyroyal, a tiny plant with strong minty, aromatic odor that grows profusely in the region stretching from the Cumberland River along the southern borders of Kentucky to about Tompkinsville.

Tourists Are Confused By Pennyrile Region

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Tourists often are confused by the fact that one of the six geographical regions into which the state is divided is called the Pennyrile. How did it get that name?

Pennyrile is nothing but a colloquial spelling of pennyroyal, a tiny plant with strong minty, aromatic odor that grows profusely in the region stretching from the Cumberland River along the southern borders of Kentucky to about Tompkinsville.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, April 23, the 113th day of 1969. There are 252 days left in the year.

On this date in 1564, William Shakespeare was born at Stratford-on-Avon in England. He died on the same date in 1616.

In 1792, the French national anthem, "La Marseillaise," was written.

In 1940, more than 200 persons died in a dance hall fire at Natchez, Miss.

In 1941, during World War II, King George II of Greece, fled to the island of Crete after German troops had broken through the Thermopolae Pass.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union rejected a U.S. proposal to halt atomic tests underwater and in the lower atmosphere as a first step toward a nuclear test ban.

Five years ago: Tanganyika and Zanzibar agreed to unite as a single sovereign state.

A Junior Editors Quiz About DIESEL ENGINES

QUESTION: How do diesel engines work?

ANSWER: The ordinary engine in a car is of the spark-ignition type. Electric sparks inside the cylinders ignite the gas vapor which is drawn in. Explosions force the pistons down. The diesel engine does not have an electrical system to set off the fuel. Instead, it uses the principle that when air is suddenly compressed, its temperature will rise. Look at (1) in our cross section of the diesel engine. At upper right, a valve has opened, allowing air to rush in. In (2), as the piston moves up, this air is compressed, becoming as hot as 900 degrees. In (3), fuel from the fuel jet at left is injected and burns in an explosion as the hot air sets it afire. In (4) the piston, having been forced down, rises again. The valve at upper left has opened to allow the burned exhaust vapors to move out. Diesel engines use inexpensive fuel oil and give a greater return of mechanical energy produced for fuel consumed than can gasoline engines. That is why they are used for so many heavy duty jobs, such as moving trains and trucks and the heavy equipment used in building roads.

Singer Eddie Fisher Has Filed For Divorce

Their marriage was first announced when Miss Stevens gave birth to a daughter, Joley, in 1967. But no marriage license was ever produced publicly. They told newsmen they had been "secretly married for some time."

Another daughter, Tricia, was born last December.

Fisher, 41, was divorced from actress Elizabeth Taylor in 1966. He was previously married to actress Debbie Reynolds.

Miss Stevens, 31, was divorced from actor James Stacey in 1967.

St. Francis of Assissi is the patron saint of animals.

5½% interest paid on investor's passbook savings. A minimum deposit of $500 is required. When held for one year this plan pays 5½% compounded quarterly and earned daily. Money may be withdrawn at any time and still earns 5¼%.

5¼% on regular passbook savings. Interest is compounded quarterly and earned daily. Which means you can deposit your money today, take it out tomorrow and still get one day's interest. Savings earn from the day of deposit, and withdrawals are penalized only for the amount of the withdrawal and for the number of days remaining in the quarter.

Mt. Union Gets $5,000 TRW Gift

MINERVA — A $5,000 contribution by TRW Metals Division has been made to the building fund of Mt. Union College in Alliance.

The gift from the TRW Foundation of Cleveland was presented to Mt. Union President Dr. Ronald G. Weber by Nelson G. Spoth, Vice President and General Manager of the Minerva-based company. Metals Division is an operating unit of TRW Inc., a diversified technology company specializing in products, systems and services for commercial, industrial and government markets.

Dr. Weber said the TRW gift will be used as part of Mt. Union's $3.5 million "total program of advance" which will provide new facilities, equipment and endowment opportunities at the college. Work on a new Physical Education building will get underway shortly, Dr. Weber said, and a new Life Science building is also in the college's growth plans.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

A.—These are high on the list of "tough ones." However, if washable, try rubbing well with a thick soap-and-water solution. You might make matters easier, too, if glycerin is worked well into the stain beforehand and allowed to stand awhile before washing. For unwashable fabrics, try glycerine, working this into the stain carefully by rubbing lightly between the hands. Let remain awhile, then rinse by sponging with water.

Q.—How can I facilitate the washing of very greasy dishes?

Q.—Is there any home method of repairing a broken china figurine?

A.—Clear fingernail polish usually does a first-rate job of sticking the broken pieces together. And when the mended joints have dried, you can use nail-polish remover to clean off the excess polish that may have exuded from the repair.

Q.—How can I deal with rust marks on my stainless steel sink?

A.—By rubbing with ordinary lighter fluid. This removes the rust in jig time. Then after going over the sink with kitchen cleanser, it will be as bright and shining as when new.

Q.—How can I remove kerosene spots from fabrics?

A.—By scrubbing with turpentine or mineral spirits, then with warm water and soap.

Q.—How can I keep my new aluminum kitchen vessels bright and shining for a long time?

A.—By using a mild soap or detergent and water alone, and taking care not to burn any food in them. Rinse with scalding water and polish with a soft towel. Mild soap is recommended, because strongly alkaline soaps tends to dull the finish.
